Joe Dobson Hurls Brilliant 6-3 Win To Give Sox Lead

FENWAY PARK, BOSTON (AP)—Joe Dobson, a doubtful starter up to an hour before the game time, turned back St. Louis Cardinals with four hits today for a 6 to 3 victory that gave Boston Red Sox a 3 to 2 game edge in the 43rd world series with the hitting help of Don Gutteridge and Leon Culberson, two last-minute Sox replacements.

Gutteridge, called into action when second baseman Bobby Doerr was unable to play because of a severe migraine headache, drove in the tie-breaking run in the second inning.

Culberson, who got his first series starting chance when manager Eddie Dyer started Howie Pollet, a lefthanded pitcher, hammered a home run in the sixth inning that helped cement the American League advantage.

Dobson had the Cards completely smothered from the second inning to the ninth when they cut loose with a dying-gasp rally that produced two runs but fell three short of tying the score. The husky 29-year-old righthander walked only one man and struck out eight in a masterful pitching job.

Hart Names Committee Of Four To Study Plans For Housing Victoria College

Appointment of a committee to study proposals for the housing of Victoria College was announced this afternoon by Premier John Hart.

Mr. Hart said the committee would meet next week and make recommendations to the government if it could agree on a plan for housing the college.

This announcement was made following the hearing by the provincial cabinet of a 13-member delegation asking that the Normal School building be made available for the college.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS

Members of the committee, the Premier said, are: Dr. J. M. Ewing, principal of Victoria College; H. O. English, principal of Victoria Normal School; H. L. Campbell, assistant superintendent of education, and Col. F. T. Fairey, deputy minister of education.

Attending the meeting, in addition to the cabinet members, were Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman of the fire wardens, Ald. B. J. Gadsden, Austin I. Curtis, school board chairman, and Trustees Waldo Skillings, M. P. Paine, A. Edmunds, R. N. Lockhead, Miss Isla Tuck, Mrs. H. A. Beckwith, R. F. Green, and B. Caley.

Mrs. Nancy Hodges and W. T. Straith, Victoria M.L.A.'s, also attended.

Mr. Curtis said following the meeting, that as the suggestion which is being followed came from the government members present, he did not feel that he could make a statement.

"I believe they will work on the matter early next week," he said, "and until the school board hears further from the government we will take no further action. The matter is now in the hands of the Department of Education."

The question of overcrowding at Victoria College came to a head early this week when Fire Chief Joseph Raymond condemned the building for the use of more than 200 students.

Classes were resumed at College this morning.

FIRE CHIEF'S STAND

Fire Chief Raymond said today that under the Fire Marshal's Act he has authority to issue an order prohibiting the use of the building for more than 200.

"Of course," he said, "that might mean that 400 students would be barred from a college education. I have hopes that the outcome of this morning's meeting will be a solution to the problem."

"However," he continued, "I see no alternative but to write a letter to the School Board, giving them until the end of October to have the 400 students moved out, if a solution is not found today."

The fire chief's report would come before the Oct. 21 meeting of the School Board.

U.S. Insists On Voice In Control Of Dardanelles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, strongly backing Turkey against Russian demands for a dominant position on the Dardanelles, has advised Moscow that the United States does not intend to be squeezed out of a voice in control of the strategic waterway.

At the same time, in a note delivered in the Russian capital Wednesday and released for publication today, the State Department emphasized anew its opposition to a Russian proposal to take over a direct share in the defence of the Black Sea gateway.

The communication, delivered by Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith, constituted the United States' reaction to Russian proposals for direct conversations with Turkey on revision of the control arrangements for the straits, and for Russian participation in defence.

Ex-Munitions Official Guilty In Spy Trial

H. S. GERSON

OTTAWA (CP)—H. S. Gerson, 41-year-old former munitions department official, was convicted today by an Ontario Supreme Court jury of conspiring to communicate state secrets to Russia and was sentenced by Mr. Justice G. F. McFarland to five years in the penitentiary.

Gerson showed no visible sign of emotion as sentence was passed. His wife sitting on a specfators' bench, also took the sentence calmly.

The defence lawyer later indicated its intention to appeal the conviction.

Veterans Held By F.B.I. Men To Be Arraigned

BALTIMORE (AP)—Three men arrested by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents on charges of publishing photographs of the atomic bomb were to be taken before a United States commissioner here today for arraignment.

Arrest of the three, two former servicemen and a reserve army captain, was anounced today in Washington by the Justice Department shortly after formal charges against them had been filed with the federal commissioner here.

Fred Hallford, F.B.I. agent here, identified the men as:

George Wallace Comer, 23, Bel Air, Md., a former private in the U.S. Army Air Forces.

Miles Frederick Daubenheyer, 26, Bel Air, Md., former ensign in the U.S. Navy.

Capt. James Barnes Rike, Chattanooga, Tenn.

The F.B.I. agent said the three men were arrested by federal agents in Baltimore Oct. 9.

The specific charge against the three, he said, is that they "did unlawfully publish a photograph of a piece of classified military equipment without first obtaining the permission of the commanding officer of the Army Air Forces based on Tinian."

OBTAINED IN PACIFIC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Justice Department today announced the arrest of three men in Baltimore on charges of publishing photographs of the atomic bomb.

A department statement said pictures of the bomb were obtained by one of the men while he and a group of other U.S. servicemen were serving with a bomber squadron in the Pacific during the fall and summer of 1945.

The three were accused of attempting to sell the photographs to the Baltimore News Post and of distributing copies elsewhere.

An F.B.I. official told a reporter in answer to a question that the attempted sale of the photographs to a newspaper and the distribution otherwise legally constituted publication.

Smuts Says Britain Should Lead Union Of European States

THE HAGUE (Reuter)—Prime Minister Smuts of South Africa today called on Britain to take the lead in forming a United States of Europe.

Addressing a joint session of the Upper and Lower Houses of the Dutch Parliament, the South African Prime Minister said that if Britain would not take the initiative, some of the smaller European countries should try to persuade her to do so.

"In eastern Europe a Slav general group is already forming under our eyes," Field Marshal Smuts declared, adding, "And why not? Why should this be resented or feared as a menace to others?"

WISEST COURSE

"Is it not wiser and safer to regularize these groupings which correspond to deep-seated national and economic interests?

"I do believe that the United Nations needs such buttresses to its overall world structure."

Mr. Smuts recalled that Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime leader, in pleading for a European federation, had suggested France should take the lead and had urged reconciliation between France and Germany as a condition.

As France has rejected Mr. Churchill's plan, he said, Britain should step in because "In her set-up of the British Commonwealth she has already created an example and model of international co-operation among free states far in advance of anything existing in the international sphere."

Canada's 16th V.C., Posthumous, Given To Winnipeg Air Officer

OTTAWA—Air Force Headquarters today announced award of the Victoria Cross, posthumously, to PO. A. C. (Andy) Mynarski of Winnipeg, R.C.A.F. air gunner who died in an attempt to save a fellow crew member when their Lancaster bomber was shot down in flames over Cambrai, France, in 1944.

PO. Mynarski's is the 16th Canadian V.C. of the recent war.

The citation says that when the attacking enemy fighter planes set fire to the bomber, "PO. Mynarski left his (midupper) turret and went towards the escape hatch. He then saw that the rear gunner, FO. George Brophy was still in his turret and apparently unable to leave it. The turret was, in fact, immovable, since the hydraulic gear had been put out of action when the port engines failed. And the manual gear had been broken by the gunner in his attempts to escape.

"Without hesitation, PO. Mynarski made his way through the flames in an endeavor to reach the rear turret and release the gunner. Whilst so doing his parachute and his clothing, up to the waist, were set on fire. All his efforts to move the turret and free the gunner were in vain. Eventually the rear gunner clearly indicated to him that there was nothing more he could do and that he should try to save his own life.

"PO. Mynarski reluctantly went back through the flames to the escape hatch. There as a last gesture to the trapped gunner, he turned toward him, stood to attention in his flaming clothing and saluted, before he jumped out of the aircraft."

Found by French men, PO. Mynarski died of his injuries. Rear Gunner Brophy had an almost miraculous escape from death.

Hart Says B.C. To Protest Rail Freight Increase

Premier John Hart said today British Columbia would protest to the Board of Transport Commissioners to proposed raising of Canadian rail freight rates.

At the same time the Premier said he would ask the board to withhold making any adjustments until it had heard representations from British Columbia for equalization.

Mr. Hart said he had been in touch with Premier Manning of Alberta, who said his government would take similar action.

Mr. Hart said he also understood that similar action was being studied by Saskatchewan.

Preparations for making representations to the board have already been discussed.

Monument To F.D.R. To Be Built In London; M.P.'s Pay Tributes

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons laid aside law-making today to express its admiration for Franklin Delano Roosevelt, whom Winston Churchill ranks above Washington and Lincoln.

Led by Prime Minister Attlee and Opposition Leader Churchill, all political parties joined in approving a bill to erect a Roosevelt memorial in Grosvenor Square, site of the United States Embassy and centre of American planning for European liberation.

Mr. Attlee described the late President as one who "combined the qualities of the fearless idealist with those of the far-seeing and prudent man of affairs."

WILL COST $160,000

The memorial plan was sponsored by the American Pilgrims' Society in London. Its £40,000 ($160,000) cost is to be raised by $1 subscriptions.

Mr. Churchill, Britain's wartime leader, said he had "felt buoyed in the ordeal of the war by walking hand in hand with this outstanding chief of the American people."

U.S. To Fight If Greek Independence Threatened, Conference Delegate Hints

PARIS (AP) — The United States told the Peace Conference today it was ready to join in any United Nations defence of Greece "If Greece's security is endangered by the acts of an aggressor nation."

Jefferson Caffery, U.S. Ambassador to France, speaking on the peace treaty with Bulgaria, said the United States had consented to leave Bulgaria her present frontier with Greece only because Americans relied on United Nations safeguards to protect Greece from any attack.

Greek Premier Constantin Tsaldaris had said bitterly in an earlier address that the terms of the treaty draft with Bulgaria would permit that country to emerge from her second war against the Allied nations larger and stronger than ever before.

He accused the western powers —"whose fate we did not hesitate to share in the most critical hours of the war"—of yielding to Soviet pressure on border issues and charged them with lack of gratitude for the role his country played in the war.

Under the terms of the treaty, Mr. Tsaldaris declared, the Axis alliance entered into by the late King Boris and former Bulgarian Premier Bogdan Philov in 1941 "will have been justified."

The Greek Premier took the floor to counter—by requesting a strip of Bulgarian territory—a demand from Polish delegate Stephan Wierblowski that Bulgaria be given an outlet to the Aegean Sea through Greece.

The renewed demand by the Slavic group that Bulgaria be given Greece's north Aegean panhandle was presented at the outset of plenary session discussion on the Bulgarian treaty, the third to come before the conference as a whole. The Italian treaty was approved Thursday and the Romanian pact early this morning.

Woman Accused Of Murdering Husband Not At Funeral

HAMILTON (CP) — When the dismembered body of John Dick was buried about March 29, the widow told police she did not want to attend the funeral, the Ontario Supreme Court jury trying Mrs. Evelyn Dick on a charge of murdering her husband was told today.

Det.-Sgt. Clarence Preston, who testified to finding what have been identified as human bones in ashes in and around Mrs. Dick's house, told of the accused's reaction to the funeral of her husband.

"She was at the jail," said the witness, first to go on the stand in this fifth day of the young widow's trial for the torso slaying of John Dick last March 6.

"I asked her if she wanted to attend the funeral," he said.

"She said 'No'," continued the witness.

The sergeant said he asked Mrs. Dick what excuse he should give and she said, "You can tell them I'm very sick."

Students' Protest Parade Swings Down Fort Street

Six hundred strong, the students of Victoria College marched through downtown Victoria Thursday to call attention of the citizens of Victoria to the need for larger quarters for the college, and ask support of their campaign to obtain use of the Provincial Normal School building. Students reported that virtually everyone asked signed their petition which will be presented to Premier John Hart Tuesday. Over the week-end a house-to-house canvass will be conducted to get more signatures.

Classes were being carried on as usual in Victoria College today as students and faculty awaited the results of the meeting between the provincial cabinet and the school board on the proposition to exchange the Provincial Normal School building and Craigdarroch.

At the same time Fire Chief Joseph Raymond turned down a proposition that the residence back of the college, be used as an annex.

Dr. Ewing said that a special meeting of the College Council had been held Thursday night to keep members informed on the situation, and full approval was given to the efforts to obtain use of the Provincial Normal School building.

He said that the College was prepared to move the minute it got the word. "If we are given new quarters today, we can move over the long week-end and be prepared to start classes there by Tuesday," he said.

He confessed he was anxious to see the matter settled because the students are losing too much class time in the campaign and mid-term examinations are coming up the end of the month.

Rail Freight Rate Jump Might Improve Competitive Position Of B.C. Industries

Approval of the Railway Association of Canada's application to the Board of Transport Commissioners for a 30 per cent increase in rail freight rates, would have a two-way effect on British Columbia industry, opinions indicated today.

While some officials described the effect of the increase if granted as a paralyzing blow, others suggested that it would give added impetus to steamship and trucking companies and give some British Columbia industries, now in competition with eastern firms, a greater margin of competition.

Although some officials questioned whether the board would approve an increase in rates as high as 30 per cent, others thought some increase would be granted to cover increased operating expenses of the railways.

The application has also renewed attention on the campaign of some western provinces for equalization of freight rates.

'SEEMS TERRIFIC'

The increase sought "seems terrific," said Hon. Leslie H. Eyres, British Columbia's Minister of Railways and Minister of Trade and Industry.

He suggested the increase if approved would aggravate the current tendency toward inflationary prices.

But Mr. Eyres added:

"It will mean definitely that we in British Columbia must have equalization of freight rates in order that the west can get a fair deal in competition on eastern markets.

Said Premier John Hart:

"In view of the fact that we have been pressing for equalization of freight rates for British Columbia we are giving particular consideration to this proposal."

Said Walter Miles, vice-president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce:

"I don't see how they can get along without some increase. They cannot get along as they have in the past."

"It will have a serious affect on British Columbia industry."

He said business from the east to British Columbia for transshipment by water to Australia and the Far East, might possibly be influenced by the increase in freight rates if effected.

On the other hand he believed a higher freight rate might improve the competitive position of some British Columbia factories and plants producing for the domestic market and also for eastern Canadian and foreign markets.

WON'T HURT LUMBER

Mr. Miles foresaw little influence by an increased freight rate on British Columbia's huge lumber industry since the bulk of the export trade is carried from British Columbia ports by water.

Maj. McCuthbert Holmes, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and J. V. Johnson, director of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and president of the Vancouver Island Associated Boards of Trade, were out of town today and unable to be reached for comment.

William Rundle, traffic manager of the Vancouver Board of Trade's transportation bureau, said British Columbia businessmen would expect removal of the "mountain scale" of rates which sets British Columbia rates above prairie rates at a ratio of 1¼ to 1. Other west coast business leaders predicted that higher rail rates would give "terrific impetus" to truck and steamship services.

British Columbia shippers will find themselves "bushed further than ever before behind the mountains," said Willina F. McClintock, chairman of the transportation committee of the B.C. division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. He announced his committee would meet next week to consider the situation.

On the prairies, opposition to the proposed increase was almost unanimous. With an economy based on the production of grain which must be moved to lakehead or ocean ports by rail, the increase was foreseen as having a serious affect on the prosperity of the grain growers and the three prairie provinces.

Said Hon. D. L. Campbell, Agriculture Minister of Manitoba:

"We couldn't support it. We would have to oppose it in the general interests of agriculture."

Hon. L. F. McIntosh, Co-operatives Minister for Saskatchewan; said freight rate costs to western farmers already were unfair in relation to the freight rate structure across Canada.

Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta said Alberta would make representations to the Board of Transport Commissioners opposing any increase in freight rates.

"In view of the very heavy freight rates already paid in the west, it goes without saying that we are emphatically opposed to any increase," he said.

Rand Matheson, chairman of the transport commission of the Maritime Board of Trade, said at Moncton, N.B., the board was opposed to the application. He said it would be "received with surprise by shippers across Canada."

WOULD APPLY TO GRAIN

The increase being sought by the Railway Association of Canada would apply to shipments of grain and flour from the west—if it goes into effect—despite the Crow's Nest Pass agreement, an official of the Board of Transport Commissioners said today.

Under the statutory Crow's Nest Pass Agreement of 1897, certain reductions in rates were to be maintained on commodities carried by the Canadian Pacific Railway between the east and west.

In return the government undertook to subsidize the building of a line through the Crow's Nest Pass. In 1927, following a decision of the Supreme Court, the Railway Act was amended to over-ride the 1897 agreement, with the exception of wheat and flour, which still were carried at reduced rates from the west to Fort William.

The 30 per cent increase applied for by the Railway Association of Canada would cover all freight with the exception of coal and coke, for which special rates were to be allowed.

Ilsley Hoping For 'Near Surplus'

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP) — Finance Minister Ilsley told a Liberal campaign meeting here Thursday night that the federal 1946 budget deficit of $300,000,000 may turn into a "near surplus" by the end of the current fiscal year.

Speaking in support of Jaffrey S. Wood, Liberal candidate in the forthcoming Portage by-election, Mr. Ilsley said the government would at least come "very close" to achieving a balanced budget.

Judgment Held In Duncan Appeal

Judgment was reserved by Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court Thursday in the case of the City of Duncan which appealed against a decision of Magistrate Henry C. Hall rendered in favor of the Children's Aid Society of Victoria.

The magistrate had held Duncan responsible for the upkeep of a child.

Counsel for the appellant, J. W. Copeman, contended in court that the city was not responsible as the child resided in an unorganized area and was not a resident of Duncan. J. Alan Baker represented the Children's Aid Society.

Duncan Hospital Drive Successful

DUNCAN—The drive for $30,000 for King's Daughters' Hospital has reached its objective and indications are that the fund will exceed $31,000.

The provincial government has promised to match the sum raised, dollar for dollar, so that more than $60,000 will be received in all, which will be sufficient to wipe out the hospital's outstanding debts.

Competent authorities are conducting a survey and will advise the hospital board on possible economies in future operation.

New Houses Planned

LADYSMITH — Representatives of the National Housing Association described to the City Council a plan to build 100 or more homes north of Ladysmith, asking if sufficient water could be guaranteed by the city.

The council, however, indicated it could not give a guarantee yet because an engineer's report on the Holland Creek dam project still is awaited.

Night School At Nanaimo Opening

NANAIMO—Registrations will be received Monday night for the Nanaimo night school, which has been organized by the Nanaimo District School Board.

Sessions of the night school will be held Mondays and Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m. Courses are available in gardening, art appreciation, music appreciation, commercial subjects, shop work and motor mechanics.

Women Of Moose On Duncan Visit

DUNCAN—Fifty members of Victoria Chapter No. 25, Women of the Moose, visited Duncan on the invitation of Governor F. Foote of Duncan Lodge, to seek to augment the interest of Duncan women in the Moose order and the formation of a chapter.

Members from Victoria Lodge No. 1390, and Vancouver Lodge No. 888, were also present. Pilgrim Brother W. A. Kettle was the chairman. Brother A. R. Pegg, P.G., spoke on the aims of the Women of the Moose. Junior Regent V. Warren gave a brief outline of her visit to Mooseheart. Senior Regent Parker then gave a resume of committees and their activities. Co-worker J. Heller sang "The Valley of Sunshine."

Waterworks System Rejected By Duncan

DUNCAN — The waterworks system of Nanaimo - Duncan Utilities will not be purcased at the price of $166,546 set by the company, the Duncan City Council has decided.

Mayor G. H. Savage said the company had made its appraisal on the basis of present-day costs of materials, and claimed insufficient allowances had been made for depreciation.

The council indicated it will defer further action until the company offers a lower price.

Legion W.A. Makes Poppy Day Plans

DUNCAN — Mrs. George Kennett undertook to convene Poppy Day collections, at a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Cowichan Branch, Canadian Legion, at the Legion Hall.

Mrs. Kennett will be assisted by Mrs. E. S. Fox, Mrs. F. Whitworth-Russell and Mrs. R. McKee. Mrs. McKee will arrange for the sale of poppies through the schools. Mrs. W. E. Stubbs and Mrs. Harold Jackson will arrange for taggers and Mrs. Cecil Smith will arrange refreshments.

Soldiers' graves will be decorated for Remembrance Day by Mrs. E. S. Fox at St. Peter's, Mrs. Alfred Goddard at St. Mary's, Mrs. F. Whitworth-Russell at Cowichan Station and Tzouhalem and W. Corble at Mountain View. Mrs. R. C. Mainguy will look after refreshments for the veterans following the service at the Cenotaph.

Arrangements were made for a rummage sale in November which will be convened by Mrs. Harold Jackson and Mrs. W. E. Stubbs.

A donation of $50 was made to the King's Daughters' Hospital Drive, and $10 will be donated to the hospital bazaar in December.

The president asked for a full attendance at the Remembrance service and announced that Mrs. H. P. Swan would address the next W.A. meeting.

Object of the flights was to check the spawning of sockeye salmon.

BREEZE OR STORM?

JUST WHAT HAS HAPPENED IN PORTUGAL in the last day or so may be clearer to the outside world when more details are available on what appears at the moment to have been a somewhat minor and abortive revolt. Developments of the last 48 hours, however, came as a surprise because in the hurly-burly of postwar international controversy very little has happened in that part of the Iberian Peninsula to evoke much discussion. The "benevolent dictatorship" under the joint dispensation of President General Antonio Oscar de Fragoso Carmona and Premier Dr. Antonio de Oliveira Salazar saw the nation through the recent conflict without active embroilment—despite certain useful "accommodations" to Great Britain and the United States.

Between 1910 and 1926, it may be recalled, Portugal experienced more than a dozen revolutions and had no fewer than eight Presidents—three of whom were assassinated, two deposed, while one resigned. Seventy-six-year-old General Carmona assumed office in 1926, was re-elected in 1928, 1935, and 1942, and his term will expire on April 15, 1949. Premier Salazar is 21 years his junior and has held office as the real power in the land since 1933, when a state council—or something on the lines of the "corporate state" initiated by Mussolini—came into being.

This body is composed of the President of the Republic, President of the Council of Ministers, Vice-Presidents of the National Assembly and Corporate Chamber, President of the Supreme Court, the Attorney-General of the Republic, and four life members. The duties of the Council are to advise the President when serious national emergencies arise and to convoke or dissolve the National Assembly. Under this regime the President appoints a Premier, who in turn selects the cabinet. The latter, however, is not responsible to Parliament. And at the last general election, on Nov. 18, 1945, Premier Salazar's National Union Party was swept into office unopposed. An opposition operating under the name of the United Democratic Movement presented no candidates and instructed its members to abstain from voting. The National Assembly is composed of 120 members. The Corporate Chamber, all of whom are appointed, numbers 97.

Regardless of the consequences of the disturbance, it would appear that at least a section of the populace has caught the mood of the period and is anxious to establish some form of democratic government in Lisbon. This element has naturally followed events in neighboring Spain, while the removal of the two European dictators in the persons of Mussolini and Hitler and everything for which they stood, has given the present ineffective oppositionists new concepts of their responsibilities and obligations, even though the Carmona-Salazar regime, in the main, may have been benevolent in its outlook.

WHY THIS INSISTENT NAGGING?

NOTHING MARSHAL STALIN MAY SAY to try to reassure the rest of the world that he has no warlike intentions will impress the skeptics so long as his spokesmen abroad and his journalistic mouthpieces at home repeat their parrot-like charges that Britain and the United States will stop at nothing to further their alleged "imperialistic" ambitions. Whether the discussion concerns the future freedom of navigation on the Danube, the status of Trieste, or any point of the peace treaties under examination at Paris, the least objection to unequivocal Soviet demands is instantly labelled either imperialistic, fascist, or reactionary of one stripe or another.

In nine cases out of 10, of course, this attitude is a clear revelation that the Soviet Union's special pleaders are trying to get away with something to which they know they are not entitled, and when they find they cannot have their way they become childishly peevish. And here is yesterday's version of this nagging behavior as reflected in the editorial columns of Izvestia, official organ of the Praesidium of the Supreme Council of the U.S.S.R., in a discussion of the visit to the Mediterranean of the U.S. aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt:

"The American flag obviously is being turned into a scarecrow with the help of which American reactionaries intend to enforce the policies of the United States. The sailing of the American squadron to the Mediterranean Sea means that representatives of reaction in the United States have successfully shown their flag to all the aggressive pro-fascist elements in Europe. The reactionary crowd of the Mediterranean countries kept their eyes on the American squadron during its whole cruise, and with malicious claws prophesied about the closeness of a new war."

Were it not for the fact that no newspaper in the Soviet Union may print anything that is not in accordance with the wishes of the Supreme Council, over which Marshal Stalin and his intimate colleagues exercise complete control, the foregoing outburst from Izvestia could be put down to an editorial attack of liver. Were it not also for the fact that neither the officers of the Praesidium nor the Russian people want another war—now or in the remote future—such journalistic utterances could be disposed of with an indulgent shrug. But each time these loose charges of capitalist-monopolistic imperialism are levelled at the governments of the most peace-loving peoples of the world, new material is provided for that small but vocal minority of mischief makers who have seemed from time immemorial to thrive on mankind's troubles.

Surely it ought to be possible for Marshal Stalin, who has come into contact with some of the leading statesmen personally, to instruct such official newspapers as Izvestia and Pravda to change their tone and thus help to dissipate some of the suspicion and mistrust of which this weary old planet has a heavy surplus. It would soon pay dividends; and a new relationship would be built up between the wartime allies about which Moscow need not be afraid to inform the Russian people.

MR. BRACKEN'S GENERALITIES

BETWEEN THAT DECEMBER DAY IN 1942 when he was "prevailed upon" to accept the leadership of the Conservative Party and until he was elected to the House of Commons in the late spring of last year, Mr. John Bracken toured the country from east to west on several occasions for the purpose, as he often described it, of finding out what the people of Canada were thinking and what they expected of government. He attended ploughing contests, curling bonspiels, and other festivals; but if he really acquired any intimate knowledge of the moods, hopes and aspirations of the Canadian public, nothing he has said since has had a very convincing ring. For the most part his contributions to the debates of Parliament have come from the mold of partizan complaint. He has viewed with alarm much of the government's policy; and when he has had material which required intelligent scrutiny from his side of the House he has never excelled himself in the application of that knowledge he was expected to have accumulated during his numerous peregrinations.

Down in Russell, Ont., on Monday, for example, Mr. Bracken told a banquet audience of the Osgoode and Russell County Ploughing Association that the government was seeking to "get out from under" in its price control policy in the matter of the nation's milk. He rounded off this familiar complaining generality with a change of metaphor by arguing that in returning the milk price-fixing policy to provincial boards the Dominion was "obviously trying to pass on a hot potato." But what the leader of the Progressive Conservative Party failed to tell his rural audience was how he would improve on the administration's policy which had kept the wage and price structure on a more or less even keel—an achievement of which 140,000,000 Americans are envious. So Mr. Bracken contented himself with the solemn pronouncement that "one of the problems today is to figure out how to get stable prices and not have these fluctuations" in the dairy economy. Well, then, who is preventing him from doing the figuring? And he could begin by keeping in mind the fact that butter retails in Canada at 45 cents a pound as against $1.03 a pound in the United States.

THEY, TOO, ARE PERSONS

EDITORIAL OPINION IN EASTERN Canada seems to agree with the sentiment expressed by Toronto's Director of Education to the effect that a school teacher is a person, not merely an academic machine. The Toronto official in question is he who expressed the belief that a teacher has as much right to take a drink or smoke a cigarette as anyone else — but should use discretion and avoid the "rowdier" beverage rooms. The Ottawa Journal notes: "Clearly a teacher must be a person of sound character and spotless reputation, but within the implied limits imposed by any employment the teacher, too, is entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

The position taken by the well-known newspaper seems entirely sane. The rational public wants neither a pedagogue who wears a halo nor one who hiccups his way through lecture hours to instruct the younger generation. The man or woman who stands before the class should have, above all, a sound balance. That is the quality which members of the profession seek to impart to their charges—and example is a potent instructor.

PROBLEM OF PRODUCTION

THE DIFFICULTY OF MAKING ECONOMIC facts conform with control regulations is instanced in the case of the small owner of a sawmill operating some distance from transportation or facilities for disposal of by-products. There are many such operations all over British Columbia. They might be called the gleaners who cut ties, side lumber and a certain quantity of merchantable timber from lands that have already been logged by the big companies, or which are economically unproductive for large operations. For the man who is willing to work and take a risk these small operations offer an opportunity for co-operative effort between logging and milling on the spot, of which many veterans have been taking advantage.

Price regulations insist that the sawdust resulting must be marketed at a certain figure. The regulations do not provide for loading, or for transport to the market, both of which would make the price prohibitive with or without any control. Regulations do not allow the operator to dispose of his waste on the spot in the manner most productive to his operations, such as road beds. He is not near enough to any market to sell it for fuel purposes, but he can and does sell all the ties, side lumber and similar material he can cut. The problem lies, of course, between what is merchantable for him operating as he does and what is not merchantable.

Walter Lippmann

BRITAIN AND AMERICAN DILEMMA

AS MR. TRUMAN and Mr. Attlee chide one another about Palestine, it would be well if responsible men on both sides of the Atlantic looked beneath the surface and resolved to think seriously about British-American relations rather than to react irritably. For this unfortunate incident is only one among many symptoms which should make us realize—especially those who have long believed in and worked for the partnership of the English-speaking peoples—that the terms and conditions of that partnership have still to be elucidated.

For if Mr. Truman has meddled in a delicate negotiation where the immediate responsibility is Britain's, it must not be forgotten that in the Middle East Mr. Truman has for the first time in American history been making commitments which place upon the United States an ultimate responsibility for the security of the whole region, and of the British position in that region. How immediate responsibility, which is British, and ultimate responsibility, which is also American, are to be shared and harmonized, no statesman on either side of the Atlantic yet knows.

BUT THAT THERE is here a problem of immense gravity and complication, no one should attempt to deny. Though it is the fashion for the moment to ignore it, largely out of fear that to examine the British-American problem is to give aid and comfort to the Russians, we may take it for certain that unless those who believe in the British-American partnership grasp the nettle, those who wish to disrupt the partnership will exploit the differences which we have failed to resolve.

Lord Lothian, who was not only a most effective Ambassador but also a British-American statesman of the first rank, understood the problem, and never—even in the darkest days of the war—lost sight of it. "Anglo-American relations," he once remarked in a speech at St. Louis, "are always difficult to talk about. . . There are, however, two sayings which each contain the proverbial half-truth which I cannot forbear to quote tonight because they tend to put the question in a humorous perspective. One is the well-known American gag about the attitude of Great Britain, 'England expects every American to do his duty'—that is, come to the assistance of the British Empire when it is in trouble. The other is the British gag about the attitude of the United States, 'America expectes the British Navy to defend her right to be neutral'."

LORD LOTHIAN was speaking in April, 1940, before the United States had entered the war, before lend-lease, before the destroyer-bases transaction. British-American relations are now different than they were then in that American neutrality, when Britain is involved in a world conflict, is no longer conceivable. But the residual problem, as yet unsolved, remains—namely that while in the difficulties of the Empire the initiative and the authority are in London, the consequences must be met also in Washington.

There is no reason why responsible British opinion should ignore and deplore, and profess not to understand, this fundamental problem. Mr. Henry Wallace, for example, has not solved the problem or even, in my view, reached the point of stating it correctly. But if the British are wise, they will not be satisfied to answer Mr. Wallace's words. They will look deeper and see that the words are those of a man who cries "Ouch!" though he does not know for sure where and why his shoe pinches him.

BECAUSE OF THEIR experience in the evolution of the Empire into the Commonwealth, British statesmen should be prepared to understand, far better than they appear to at the moment, the inner problem of British-American relations. They have lived long enough not to talk as if they could not understand the difficulty which Americans are trying to express when they say, as so many Americans do, that they are partners with the British Commonwealth of Nations, but that they do not know what they are in relation to the British Empire.

On Jan. 24, 1944, Lord Halifax delivered an address at Toronto in which he told his Canadian audience:

"I speak frankly as I know you would have me speak. On Sept. 3, 1939, the Dominions were faced with a dilemma of which the whole world was aware. Either they must confirm a policy which they had had only a partial share in framing, or they must stand aside and see the unity of the Commonwealth broken, perhaps fatally and forever. It did not take them long to choose, and with one exception they chose war. But the dilemma was there, and having occurred twice in 25 years, it may occur again. That is the point at which equality of function lags behind equality of status. The Dominions are free— absolutely free—to choose their path; but every time there is a crisis in international affairs, they are faced with the same inexorable dilemma, from which there is no escape."

IF CANADA is faced with this "inexorable dilemma, from which there is no escape," certainly there is no use pretending that the United States has not been faced with it most poignantly of all, and that the United States is not now faced with it. The dilemma is a real one, and until British-American statesmanship recognizes it, and takes it seriously, and explores it frankly, the partnership of the English-speaking peoples will be at the mercy of incidents and irritations and blunders, of isolationism in both countries and disruptive manoeuvres from without. No one need doubt but that the partnership will nevertheless remain.

Father Broods Over Son Who Had Become a Killer Of Men

Ling Tan saw his eldest son, one day when he was eating his food, get up quickly from the table and go out. There was a solitary enemy at the gate who had come to write something down on his little book, and the eldest son killed him and then came back to his meal. "Do you not even wash your hands?" his father asked in wonder. "Why should I?" his son answered simply, "I did not touch him—I only pushed him with my foot into the bamboo thicket." The world-famous story "Dragon Seed," by Pearl S. Buck, tells you of Lin Tan and the many happenings of his sons. WHEREAS the Victoria College building is now so overcrowded as seriously to impair the quality of the education given at the college,

AND WHEREAS the Normal School building, which offers the only available accommodation satisfactory to the needs of the College, is at the disposal of the Provincial Government,

WE, the undersigned, respectfully petition the Premier and the Government of the Province—in the interests of education, safety and health of Victoria College students—to arrange an early transfer of buildings between the College and the Normal School.

Higher Ceiling Price On Tinned Salmon

There will be an increase in the price of tinned Pacific salmon to the consumer, the latest edition of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board Food Bulletin stated.

New ceiling prices have been set, and the reason given is that for the past few years most of the pack has been sold to the United Kingdom at prices higher than the Canadian ceiling. The government paid a subsidy on the portion of the pack allocated for sale in Canada.

This year, however, no subsidy is being paid, and ceilings on Canadian sales have been adjusted so that the packer will receive the same return as on British sales.

Newcombe, Victoria Artist, Exhibits Mexican Paintings

Walter T. Keeble, the honorary consul for Mexico, Tuesday evening opened at the Little Centre the exhibition of water colors painted in Mexico by the Canadian artist, W. J. B. Newcombe.

Mr. Keeble, who was introduced by Hon. Mark Kearley, chairman of the Little Centre, spoke of his long association with Mexico, which dated back to the turn of the century. He recalled his visit in 1901 to San Miguel de Allende, where most of the pictures in this exhibition were painted. Mr. Keeble said he felt that Mr. Newcombe had caught the spirit of the Mexican small town and of the surrounding countryside, but, he added amid laughter, that he felt that the artist had seen it all through rose-colored spectacles, for, as he remembered it, everything was more dusty and more dilapidated than Mr. Newcombe had depicted it.

Mr. Keeble said that in recent years San Miguel de Allende had now become a veritable artists' colony.

Mr. Kearley welcomed the artist's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Newcombe, who had come over from Vancouver specially for the occasion. Mr. Kearley also mentioned the fact that this young Canadian artist was shortly having a one-man show at the Ferargil galleries in New York, the first, he believed, ever put on for a Canadian, who was a non-resident of the United States.

CANADIANS DESERVE SUPPORT

"We who live in his native city, may well be proud of William Newcombe," Mr. Kearley continued, "and if we wish to retain these young artists in Canada, we should be prepared to do something practical to encourage and support them."

The audience of over 200 was enthusiastic over the beautiful color-films depicting life and art in Mexico, which had been specially lent by the Seattle Museum of Art. Among them was a notable film portraying an ancient Mexican ritual, "The Dance of the Bird Men," a dance performed by five dancers on a small platform 50 feet above the ground.

Saving Loans Go On Sale Next Tuesday

Oct. 15 is the opening day of Canada Savings Loan and investment houses, trust companies and banks are putting their organizations at the service of bond purchasers.

Large business firms and establishments, with the help of key investment firms' personnel, are setting up internal canvasses similar to those of the Victory Loans. This is being done at the request of the employers of over 1,000,000 Canadian workers.

In many cases smaller firms are making similar arrangements and allotting a member of their staff to take bond applications.

These may be purchased by cash or through bank financing.

Canadians who do not come into these categories are invited to contact investment houses, trust companies or banks and make their own arrangements. In very few cases will there be any direct appeal by a salesman.

The new bonds bear 2¾ per cent interest and are guaranteed redemption at par value at any time at any chartered bank of Canada or any branch office. These bonds are non-callable, non-transferable and non-assignable and mature on Nov. 1, 1956.

There will be no other opportunity within the next 12 months to buy Dominion of Canada bonds.

The definite shortage of consumer goods at present makes the purchase of bonds now a guarantee against inflation and a financial backlog for future purchases when production is back to normal.

Sir A. Clutterbuck To Speak Before Canadian Club Here

Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, K.C.M.G., M.C., High Commissioner for the United Kingdom in Canada, will arrive in Victoria Monday afternoon and will address the Canadian Club on "Postwar Britain" at luncheon Wednesday.

Sir Alexander was born in 1897 and educated at Malvern College. He served in World War I with the Coldstream Guards, was mentioned in dispatches and was awarded the Military Cross.

He entered the Civil Service in 1919, serving first in the General Post Office, was later transferred to the Colonial Office and subsequently to the Dominions Office in 1929.

While in the Colonial Office, he acted as secretary to the Donoughmore Commission on the Ceylon constitution in 1927 and 1928. While in the Dominions Office, he attended, as a member of the U.K. delegation, the meetings of the League of Nations Assembly from 1929 to 1931 and other international conferences.

He was secretary to the Royal Commission on Newfoundland in 1933.

From 1939 to 1940, he was deputy high commissioner for the U.K. in the Union of South Africa, and in 1942, after his return to London, he was appointed an assistant undersecretary of state in the Dominions Office.

Among his visits to Canada was that in 1942, when he accompanied Clement Attlee, then deputy Prime Minister and Secretary of State of Dominion Affairs.

He served as an officer in the Home Guard during World War II and received the award of K.C.M.G. in the New Year's Honors List this year.

Music Appreciation Club At College

The music appreciation club at Victoria College started its 1946 session at noon Wednesday, and will hold weekly meetings, attended by approximately 100 members.

Richard Lipsey was named president, with Godfrey Hearn as secretary. Other executive members are Marian Chapman and Orie Parris.

At the first meeting recordings from the works of Mendelssohn, Sibelius and Schubert were heard. The club now has a record library of 250 selections.

No Fun Behind the Counter, either!

What with none of this and little of that, it's tough to be a customer.

But shortages are pretty hard on the man behind the counter too!

For instance your grocer. He doesn't like telling you he is just out of Chateau Cheese. He'd much rather sell you all the delicious Chateau you want every time you ask. But he just can't.

Here's the Reason

You see, the production of Canadian cheese (cheddar) has been dropping. And cheddar cheese is needed to make Chateau.

This drop is partly due to the scarcity of dairy cattle and partly because there are not enough workers on the farms. In addition, Canada is shipping millions of pounds of cheddar to relieve the critical shortage of food overseas.

On top of everything else, more people are asking for Chateau Cheese than ever before. That rich, tangy Chateau flavor keeps right on making new friends.

We Hope You Understand

All this may give you some idea how difficult things are. And perhaps it will help you understand why your grocer can't always make his Chateau Cheese go 'round.

Meanwhile, we're doing the very best we can. And no matter what happens we make you this promise:—the fine quality which keeps Chateau Cheese your special favorite, will always be the same.

Before Columbus, Vikings Explored The Midwest

By JOE WING

If Paul Knutson had been a little more lucky, you might never have heard of this guy Columbus.

Knutson was a big Norwegian who not only set foot on America 130 years before Columbus (that was nothing, really, because his Viking ancestors had been doing it for centuries) but sent an exploring party or led it himself right into the heart of the country. To be exact, the party reached Minnesota in the year of Our Lord 1362.

Knutson was unlucky because he was born in the wrong century, before there was any population pressure driving Europeans to exploration, and because his party tried to force its way through the lands of the terrible Sioux Indians. The Sioux scalped a number of 'em.

Even so the expedition was memorable in spite of its scanty records. These records are now being figured out by Hjalmar R. Holand of Ephraim, Wis., an historian whose findings are becoming more and more widely known although not yet accepted by all scholars. In a new book, "America 1355-1364," (Duell Sloan & Pearce) he has just added another chapter to the saga of the first known exploration of the American west.

Deciphering runes on the famous Kensington stone found in Minnesota, finding and figuring out the significance of "mooring stones" along old watercourses in that region, poring over old documents abroad, and pondering the antecedents of the ancient ruined tower at Newport, R.I., Holand has pieced together a long and colorful story here summarized briefly:

In the year 1355, King Magnus of Norway and Sweden sent out an expedition captained by Knutson to find the residents of a lost Norwegian colony in Greenland (where Leif the Lucky once made his home) and bring them back to the Christian faith. This expedition probably stopped in at Iceland and at the eastern and western settlements in Greenland. From the western settlement, the colonists had vanished.

Acting on the logical assumption that the colonists had decamped to Vinland, that land flowing with milk and honey, the Knutson party steered south and west. Holand is sure Vinland was the southern New England coast although its exact location has long been in dispute.

There were no settlers in Vinland, so Knutson established a base of supply there and sent ships north once more to explore the coast of what was then supposed to be an island and to track down the missing colonists. Those left in Vinland busied themselves in building the Newport tower which was at once a church and a fortress. Holand goes into minute detail to prove that it followed Norwegian and Swedish prototypes of that period and would most likely have been constructed by this particular exploring party.

The explorers followed the coast for thousands of miles north and west until finally they came to the mighty Nelson River that flows into Hudson Bay and drains Lake Winnipeg. This torrent convinced them they were dealing with no island but with a continent. And they began to think of the shortest way home.

Leaving a ship or two near the mouth of the Nelson to guard their line of retreat, they made a bold play. They started up the Nelson, hoping to work their way south and east to Vinland.

In this spearhead party were 30 men armed with shields, swords and light halberds. They made rapid progress up the Nelson, along the length of Lake Winnipeg, and on up the Red River. Then they turned southeast up the course of the Buffalo River and into the Minnesota Lake region, always searching for the divide that would lead them to Vinland.

The lakes were deeper and more numerous in those days. Along their old shore lines Holand has identified a whole series of mooring stones that he is sure were used by these explorers just as Norwegian seamen used similar stones on the rocky shores of their homeland. The mooring stones were simply big boulders which happened to lie in convenient places and into which holes were drilled for the reception of ring bolts.

Later, the explorers apparently set up a shrine on a huge boulder and celebrated mass. This stone with holes at appropriate places for supporting the equipment has been located and identified by Holand.

Then disaster struck. The Kensington stone, found near Kensington, Minn., nearly 50 years ago, and once spurned by scholars as a hoax, tells the story. Holand read the runes fully and his translation, he recounts, is the accepted one today. It says:

"We are 8 Swedes and 22 Norwegians on an exploration-journey from Vinland through the west. We had camp by a lake with 2 skerries one day's journey north from this stone. We were out and fished one day. After we came home we found 10 of our men red with blood and dead. Ave Maria. Save us from evil.

"We have 10 of our party by the sea to look after our ships (or ship) 14 days' journey from this island. In the year of our Lord 1362."

With that, the explorers rushed on ever farther into the wilderness and into oblivion.

Perhaps not complete oblivion. Holand is convinced that the Caucasian features of the Mandan Indians, their legends of Christian origin, and their mild manners and European style huts can be traced to the Knutson party and to the priest who undoubtedly accompanied that party.

Besides the mooring stones, there have been found in the Minnesota region and along the route of the party old swords, fire steels, halberds and such. And in the Missouri River, near an old Mandan Indian camp in North Dakota, is another great boulder that appears only once in forty years or so in times of extreme drouth. On this stone, according to tradition, appears marks that might well be runes. Someday they may round out the story of the first European explorers of the American west.

Green Rejects Bid To Join World Group

CHICAGO (AP) — President William Green of the American Federation of Labor has turned down a British bid to co-operate with the World Federation of Trade Unions, a group including the C.I.O. in its membership, but tagged by Mr. Green as Communist-dominated.

Mr. Green told the A.F.L. convention the British Labor movement's position was "contradictory" because it co-operated with Russia in the W.F.T.U., yet refused to accept the Communist party in the British Labor party.

The A.F.L. leader spoke in reply to a speech of Thomas O'Brien, a fraternal delegate representing the British Trade Union Congress and a Member of Parliament. Mr. O'Brien had asked the A.F.L., regardless of whether it agreed with all W.F.T.U. policies, to co-operate in the interest of a unified world-wide trade unionism.

The city Water Board recommended at a meeting today that the Victoria Fish and Game Association be granted a lease of a portion of Goldstream Park for a rifle shooting range, subject to the condition that no high-powered rifles be used. Ald. J. A. Worthington, chairman of the board, said the association had agreed to this condition.

Ex-R.C.A.F. Men Go Into Cafe Business In City

Thomas Rapanos and his three ex-R.C.A.F. sons, Jimmy, Hugh and Bill, have accomplished something different in opening the Cameo Cafe, where patrons who dine out will discover unique atmosphere and pleasant surroundings.

Landscapes and old-world figures depicted by murals on the walls, add so much to the relaxed enjoyment of fine foods.

This modern restaurant, with its capacious milk-bar, which seats 100 patrons in this section alone, also has muraled walls.

Here the decorative scheme shows pastoral scenes with distant vistas of water, trees and mountains, harmoniously blended and colored with real artistry.

In contrast, the dining-room, with seats for 100, has wall murals depicting old-world courtiers, and ladies in sedan chairs and coaches.

The ultra modern fixtures and equipment, lighting and decorating, are combined to give the best possible service.

The rich mahogany woodwork and fixtures and harmonious decorative theme blend softly, yet colorfully with the smartly paneled design in the marboleum flooring.

Plastic flooring in black and grey tile completes the modern kitchen.

The decorative scheme was drawn by E. A. Harrison of David Spencer Ltd.; murals are by Boyd Magill; interior and exterior decorating by Erik Hansen, and floors and furniture by David Spencer Ltd.

Astronomical Society Told Of Cosmic Rays

An illustrated address on cosmic rays by R. E. G. Langton featured the meeting of the Victoria Astronomical Society Thursday night at Victoria College, 50 members attending.

Mr. Langton gave his listeners some interesting highlights on the rays, noting they pass through the human body at the rate of 10 per second, each ray breaking up 1,000,000 molecules. In order to shut them out it would be necessary to bury oneself in 75 feet of lead.

Soldiers Overseas Fewer Than 4,000

Fewer than 4,000 Canadian soldiers remain in the United Kingdom and present shipping forecasts indicate all may be home by the end of November, according to a National Defence Department statement.

The liner Aquitania, with space for 1,400 troops on each trip, is scheduled to make three more "lifts" Oct. 13 and 21 and Nov. 19, and the Scythia, Lady Nelson and Letitia will carry smaller groups of soldiers and dependents.

History Of Buffalo Told To Authors

History and habits of the North American buffalo were explained in an address by F. G. Roe to the Victoria branch of the Canadian Authors' Association Wednesday evening.

Mr. Roe told of the first discovery of the herds by early explorers who had little idea of their magnitude and importance. They had disappeared first on the east side of the Mississippi, but it was not until the latter part of the last century that they were completely exterminated. He thought it probable that the American government encouraged the slaughter partly because as long as the buffalo existed, the Indians who could wander at will dependent upon them for a living were hard to control. Finally they were lured into pounds or driven over cliffs till few remained.

Mrs. Hamer-Jackson of Vancouver spoke on the National Convention of the Canadian Authors' Association, which is to be held on the Pacific coast next July. She said it was proposed to hold three days' sitting in Vancouver and one in Victoria. Local members thought it would be fairer if the time were equally divided between the two cities, and steps will be taken toward securing this result.

Pensioners Repeat Increase Request

"If we were young and able to journey to Ottawa . . . or call a strike as labor groups do—we would soon have our pensions raised," was the way one member of the Victoria Old-Age Pensioners Branch No. 5, put it at a large meeting here Wednesday night. The provincial government was criticized for failing to substantially increase the pensioners' cost-of-living bonus as earlier requested. The branch passed a resolution, addressed to the government, repeating its request for the increase.

The members considered that if their request was classed as unwarranted by the government "we call upon them to cancel the increase of $1,000 in their sessional indemnities which the legislature members voted themselves at the last session of the House." This would bring M.L.A.'s indemnities down to the level at which they stood when the members were elected.

A communication received from Ottawa on the question noted that changes in old-age pension legislation could not be made until the necessary agreements had been reached with the provinces.

Salary Matters Feature Teachers' Opening Meeting

J. Meredith and W. Reid were named as delegates to the joint conference on housing to take place at the Britannia Branch Oct. 20, at Wednesday night's first meeting of the 1946-47 year of the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association. President H. D. Dee was in the chair.

The resignation of treasurer Douglas Cobbett was accepted and J. E. Sanders was elected to the position. Resignation of the convener of the membership committee was also accepted and Ernest Livesey was the new choice.

Mrs. W. Copeland was elected to represent the association on the Nursery School Council. It was announced Education Week will be observed from Nov. 3 to 9, inclusive.

A report was submitted by the chairman of the salary committee, Mrs. H. Hodson. It was reported the committee had prepared a salary schedule, placed in the hands of the School Board some months ago. The board is at present drafting a schedule. To date there has been no meeting between the committee and the board. The salary committee was empowered by the G.V.T.A. to write to the School Board requesting that the board's proposed schedule be in the hands of the committee at an early date.

The committee report indicated it had dealt with the cases of a number of teachers in the Greater Victoria area whose salaries were believed to be below those laid down in the Cameron Report. Adjustments were made in all cases.

The G.V.T.A. adopted the policy that the salary committee be the sole bargaining agency between the teachers and the School Board, and that it shall be considered unethical for any teacher to approach the board personally in regard to his or her salary.

B. C. Gillie, past president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, reported that in the province 21 districts have salary schedules as high or higher than the minimum salary schedule proposed by the B.C. federation. Mr. Gillie said that Winnipeg teachers have a salary schedule which provides between $4,000 and $5,000 for secondary teachers.

Egg Supply Director From Britain Coming

John A. Peacock, director of egg supplies for the British Ministry of Food, accompanied by V. A. Brown, chief of the poultry division for the Canadian Department of Agriculture, will visit Victoria Oct. 26.

Later in the day they will proceed to Duncan where at 2.30 in the afternoon at the K. of P. Hall, they will address a meeting sponsored by producer organizations on Vancouver Island.

The trip will be the second of Mr. Peacock to Vancouver Island. It coincides with the projected loading of 129,000 cases of eggs on the ship Saxon Star for Britain. This shipment, the world's record of shell eggs to Britain, which will represent 3,870,000 dozen or an egg each for every person in Britain, will be gleaned from poultry farms in British Columbia and Alberta.

Turkey Shortage For Christmas Season

Many housewives will have to rely on foul and chicken for their Thanksgiving dinners as retail meat dealers report today a shortage of turkeys which may even extend into the Christmas season due to losses suffered on many turkey farms on the island.

Dealers said they had received very few birds from local farms, and what had been received had been largely bought up by restaurants. As for turkey supplies from Alberta, they said, shipments would not arrive until December, as most of the birds were not yet fat enough for the market.

C. Halet, manager of the B.C. Market, said he had been informed that several turkey farms had suffered losses during the summer months.

"They are very difficult birds to raise," he said, "and the majority are only ready for the market by Christmas."

He also said that even the reliable chicken, which many housewives fall back on in case of emergency, was not too plentiful this year, and there was a possibility that demands might exceed the supply during the Christmas season.

If there is a shortage of fowl, there certainly isn't a shortage of fresh fruits, according to a wholesale dealer on Yates Street, who reported that shipments of fresh fruits were arriving regularly in Victoria.

He said there was no danger of any shortage for Christmas, as plenty of shipments of bananas, grapefruit, grapes, apricots, dates and cranberries were on their way to Victoria.

Says Tourist Trade Mere Trickle Of What It Should Be

"In relation to the great things we have to offer in this country the tourist dollars Canada nets annually amount to a mere trickle of what should be realized," said Robert J. C. Stead, Canadian National Parks publicity director, addressing the Rotary Club Thursday.

The subject was "National Parks and Tourist Business." Mr. Stead was of the opinion that one important factor in seeking tourist business expansion was to polish up Canadian cities "for a pleasant change of environment is the most desired thing by our tourists."

"We also need good roads, rail and air travel and improved ship and ferry services," he added.

TOURIST FIGURES

In 1945, the publicity director said, visiting tourists spent $164,400,000 in Canada. Canadian tourists, on the other hand, spent $83,000,000 in the United States. "With our population one-tenth of that in the U.S., Canadians spent a great deal more south of the border than Americans spent in Canada per head." This year the tourist business in Canada was estimated to reach $240,000,000, while Canadians were expected to spend $160,000,000 in the States. "If Americans spent as much per head as Canadian tourists do down there the business this year would be worth about $750,000,000 to us."

Private initiation and personal enterprise were needed a lot more in Canada to provide accommodation for tourists. "Make your food for tourist consumption as distinctly Canadian as possible, charge reasonable prices —you may overcharge them this time, but they won't forget and will not return."

The national publicity man recommended a great deal more travel within Canada for Canadians. "It is in the national interest for our people to travel back and forth and get to know and understand each other better. It will result in a much stronger national fabric."

Mr. Stead weaved this matter into the international scene. "If you can't get nine provinces of Canadians to pull together, how do you expect the United Nations, with its many different colors and creeds, to operate successfully?" Travel by Canadians and Americans over the border promotes a better understanding between the two countries, he said.

M.D. 11 Depot At Postwar Strength

The army's No. 11 District Depot in Vancouver has now been reduced to its planned postwar strength, the National Defence Department said in a statement today, along with the depots at London, Kingston, Quebec, Fredericton and Regina.

Depots at Toronto, Montreal, Halifax, Winnipeg and Calgary are operating at reduced strength but are not yet down to their postwar establishments because they are still carrying out discharges.

"Although it now means that a soldier in Vancouver must travel to Calgary for his discharge," the statement said, "the net result is still a considerable saving to the taxpayers. The additional transportation cost is a minor item compared with the upkeep of the depots in full strength."

Many Thousands To Benefit From Family Allowance

Several thousand additional families in Victoria and other parts of British Columbia will receive family allowances as the result of the revision of the Federal War Income Tax Act to take effect on Jan. 1, allowances officials estimated today.

Family allowance officials advise local residents to file their applications early and to mark the date they wish they to receive their allowances for their children. It was explained that this would avoid unnecessary delay and confusion which might result if left to the last moment.

Allowance officials in Edmonton report that the change will result in family allowances being paid to an additional 22,500 Alberta children from possibly 10,000 families.

John Strohm's Great Word And Picture Story Of

The PEOPLE Behind The IRON CURTAIN

Fifth Of Six Uncensored, Unbiased Dispatches

BY JOHN STROHM

(World Copyright by NEA Service, Inc., and John Strohm. Reproduction in whole or in part prohibited.)

SOCHI, U.S.S.R.—Nikolai, a 20-year-old coal miner, was vacationing in a white marble palace at a swanky Caucasus resort on the Black Sea. The 30-day "rest-cure" was a reward, and he told me how he earned it.

Nikolai Lukichev is a member of the Young Communist League and hopes to be a Party Member some day—he isn't eligible until he's 25. One day he heard a lecture on the new Five Year Plan and the emphasis being put on coal production. It had to be raised from 147,000,000 tons a year to 250,000,000 tons in 1950.

"More coal means more steel and more steel means more factories. More factories mean more strength for the Soviet Union. They also mean more trucks and automobiles and stoves and things for the people. That's why we must over-fulfill our plan," the speaker urged.

Nikolai wondered how he could improve his job. He and his brigade of three men cut tunnels at the rate of seven to 10 feet a day. Then he had an idea—a dangerous idea perhaps but fast. Dynamite! Instead of slow-moving machinery and hand labor, why not blast the tunnels? They tried it, and now they cut up to 14 meters a day instead of two or three.

"It's much faster," says Nikolai modestly. "And one day I earner 3,766 rubles by overfulfilling the plan." (That's over $300 for a day's work. The average coal miner's salary is less than $40 a month.).

They're even thinking of starting a movement in the coal industry and calling it the Lukichev movement, one of the officials told me. Something similar to the Stakhanovite movement named after another coal miner who started a mass movement by the simple discovery that by concentrating on one job and organizing it well he could greatly increase his output.

His Reward—Vacation On The Black Sea

Part of Nikolai's reward was this vacation at the rest home for workers of heavy industry. It was hard to say which of us was more dazzled by the pretentious surroundings after the drab appearance of most Soviet villages and cities.

For here on the Black Sea in a kind of Miami Beach-Riviera atmosphere are marble palaces which are a combination White House-Taj Mahal thrown together as hospital-hotel.

The rest home is a Soviet invention to give the worker a 30-day vacation during which he can also be X-rayed, sun-rayed, sulphur-bathed, vitaminized and propagandized and anything else that will send him back a better man to his job.

At this one spot overlooking the Black Sea, with the green foothills of the Caucasus Mountains as a backdrop, are 32 rest homes for such diverse groups as the locomotive workers, the Pravda newspaper staff, Red Army officers, Arctic scientists and explorers, and workers of the Ministry of Agriculture (with whom I stayed.) A mile away is a private rest home, surrounded by a high board fence—Stalin's.

The director for Nikolai's rest home explained the set-up. They can accommodate 250 patients or vacationers—I never did quite get the distinction. Medical commissions in the various factories, or trade union officials decide who gets to come. Sometimes it's because the workers are ill and need a rest, sometimes it's a reward for achievement. Each bureau, factory or industry has its own rest homes scattered about the country.

"Do the patients pay?" I asked.

"Some have their expenses paid by the trade union. Some have their expenses paid by the government—if they've done something outstanding, like Nikolai. Others pay their own expenses, according to the salaries they make," the director explained.

"I suppose this is all looking forward to the time when all Soviet citizens get a 30-day vacation," I suggested.

"Oh, our constitution guarantees that all workers get a 30-day vacation. Teachers and scientists get two months—and it's compulsory they take it. It's true, we can only handle 3,000 people a year here, but we have many rest homes all over the country." He added that they weren't all as elaborate as this.

"Here we have Stalin prize winners, professors and just common workers."

They proudly showed me through the clinics—I never saw so much medical equipment in my life. They have 15 doctors and 26 nurses. It's compulsory to bring the wife and kids. They tell amazing tales of cures such as the man who lost his speech because of war shock. Three days here and he was talking.

Soon after we checked in at the Ministry of Agriculture Rest Home, the local NKVD man dropped around. We registered with him for $1.20.

I took a sulphur bath cure at the Machesta baths, famous since 1900 for making a new man out of an old one. It's where Stalin takes his cures. I got the works—they attached a nozzle to my nose and I breathed deeply of the moist sulphurized air. Another nozzle, this time menthol and vaseline.

"Tunes up your system," the girl attendant smiled.

Prisoners

KIEV, U.S.S.R.—Forty ragged men and women shuffled along a road, some with hoes over their shoulders. They looked no better nor worse than any group of farm workers going to the fields.

But behind them walked two Russian soldiers, tommy guns slung over shoulders.

"Who are these people?" asked Strohm.

"Political prisoners," he was told. "They have committed a crime against the state."

Study Effects Of Sun Sea And Air On Body

Then came the bath. The doctor looks you over, decides how strong a concentration you can stand, and then puts you in the tub for five minutes. This sulphur cure is supposed to be tops for rheumatism, heart trouble, and skin diseases. They handled 5,400 patients daily before the war, said the doctor.

We stopped at the Stalin Binological Institute, where they're studying the effects of the sun, the air, and the sea on the human body. (All of these buildings were built in the 1930's.) Here, too, they had an impressive array of clinical equipment—much more than the ordinary hospital has in Kiev or Minsk or Moscow. It's of Russian make, German or American.

"Amerikanski, harashaw!" was the now familiar observation of one technician as he lovingly touched a piece of American X-ray equipment. A jeep, a Studebaker, an airplane, a pair of shoes, an X-ray machine: "Amerikanski. Harashaw!" (American! Good!) Everywhere American equipment goes—it wins friends for us.

"Let's go for a swim," suggested the head doctor of our rest home. He was a genial man who said he was "burning out the last ruble from the last golden six-tenths of his life"—he was in his 59th year. "But I have no bathing suit," I protested.

"We don't use them," he said laughingly.

We drove down to the sea in a jeep and started walking along the shore, the doctor leading the way. There were little girls, young girls, just girls and old girls. A few wore bathing suits, a few wore their panties, but most of them wore only their bathing caps. A beach attendant in white frock said, half protestingly:

"This space is reserved for women — the men's beach is there," and she pointed down the beach.

"Oh, that's all right," the doctor said reassuringly. "We're all doctors." And he strode right on among the sun bathers who paid little attention to us. Phil Bender and I followed, trying to look like visiting doctors instead of blushing visiting firemen.

We went to the men's beach. It was separated from the women's beach by a rope stretched down to the water's edge. "This is the dividing line," the doctor said matter-of-factly.

Oh, yes, the water was wonderful!

I went with a blonde metallurgist to a dance at a clubroom. A lecture on international relations was still in progress when we arrived. It had been going on for nearly an hour. The young people impatiently moved around in the back as the speaker labored on.

The younger people fidgeted and watched the clock.

"And the lights go out at 11 p.m," whispered the blonde metallurgist.

Finally, the lecturer made his last point—the party line point. Said he, capitalistic countries cannot escape recurrent booms and depressions. In times of depression the ruling class turns to imperialism. He predicted a depression in the United States in approximately 1950 and declared the Soviet Union must remain strong.

Then we all went to the dance hall. A man with an accordion gave forth with sad Russian music.

The Russians are strong for formality. Because we were going to be guests at the Ministry of Agriculture Rest Home, the director came 40 miles to the airport to meet us in his private car. And he took us to the airport when we flew away.

The airport was a two-by-four job at the foot of the Caucasus Mountains, with wooden shacks, and trees keeping the sun and rain off the baggage.

"It was hastily built when the Nazis were just a few miles over those mountains," said the director.

Sponsored Clowns

STALINGRAD, U.S.S.R.—The circus was playing when John Strohm visited Stalingrad.

It's a government project. Even the clowns are on the government payroll. The hit of the show was a Charlie Chaplin imitator.

In the finale, a cannon boomed and out came a huge red flag. It was caught by a beautiful girl.

A Glass Of Milk (Sour) Costs 40 Cents

We stopped at a fruit counter under the trees, tended by two barefooted women who cracked and ate sunflower seeds as they waited for customers. Tomatoes were $1.45 a pound. A good peach cost 60 cents, but if we wanted to take one with some rotten spots, it was only 40 cents. A knotty apple was 16 cents, a pint of gooseberries, 80 cents, and a glass of sour milk, 40 cents.

Our plane came in, and we scrambled aboard with our luggage. A Soviet plane flight is something to give any of our aviation officials a nightmare, it's all so free from the rules and regulations we have over here. My first flight for example:

I wrestled my own luggage aboard and, like the other passengers, promptly piled it in the first likely place I saw. And that's a bad spot, I learned later. Because that place is usually at the back of the plane, in front of the door people make a dive for when they get airsick. After the backend becomes really tail-heavy, the rest of the barrels, boxes, bags, and miscellaneous assorted luggage is stacked in the middle of the plane between the two rows of passengers sitting on benches.

When the plane was ready to take off, I reached for my safety belt. There wasn't any, just the rings where a safety belt had been. So I relaxed as the pilot leap-frogged the plane into the air, only occasionally needing to steady the pile of cases in the aisle so they wouldn't topple on me.

Getting Around In Russia Real Problem

The friendly pilot strolled back. Knowing I was an Amerikanski, he said the Lend-Lease DC-3 was a wonderful plane. I pointed to the rings, as if to ask where the safety belt was, and he asked instead: "Yes, what are those rings for?" The pilot was so friendly he invited me and half a dozen other passengers to crowd into the crew compartment for a look. He showed us the various gadgets, and demonstrated several, making the plane swing about in the sky. I quickly suggested I'd seen enough, and thanked him.

On one plane flight, the light above the pilot's compartment came on, "No smoking," as soon as we got into the air. No one smoked during the whole flight. When the plane got ready to land, the light went off. The passengers lighted up their cigarettes. The switch obviously was reversed, but the passengers followed the rules. And they got out of the plane to do their smoking on the ground as the ground crew gassed her up.

Getting around Russia is a real problem. That's why the new five-year plan has given top priority to rebuilding and expanding the railroad industry. In 1945, only 15,000 railroad cars were manufactured; the goal for 1950 is 146,000.

The railroads in western Russia took a terrible beating during the war. Their equipment and roadbeds were in ruinous state after the German tide fell back to the westward. Trains I took bumped and puffed along at a maximum of 25 miles an hour, with frequent stops. Passengers are lucky to get a firm perch on the roof of an overcrowded car once the first rush of humanity has jammed the coaches to overflowing.

Bridges have been pretty well restored and an effort is being made to improve the roadbed.

Tuesday: The hero of Stalingrad is a camel—and he's still working, the sixth and concluding articles of this series, will not be published until next Tuesday's issue of the Victoria Times.

REST HOME—On the steps of the Ordzhonskidze Rest Home (above) on the Black Sea stands 20-year-old Nikolai Lukichev, who earned a vacation here for developing methods to speed up coal production by using explosives instead of machines.

FARM HOME—In a rural back yard in Byelorussia (left), this housewife draws water from an open well. Rye straw roof on her house lasts about 15 to 20 years without leaking.

FREE MARKET—Red Army officer (below) bargains for fresh cherries on the free market, where farms can sell surplus after delivering quotas to government. Because food is scarce, prices are fantastic: when this photo was made, one egg cost 28 cents, a quart of milk 55 cents.

ASSEMBLY LINE: One line in this Stalingrad tractor factory is in operation. Manager dodged question on production hopes; sign on wall listed goal at 6,000.

ADDING MACHINE: Russians work Chinese counter overtime. Shown above in Moscow's Hotel Savoy, this type of adding machine is in use throughout U.S.S.R.

NAZIS PASSED HERE: This ancient and beautiful Russian Orthodox monastery, built in the 11th century, was mined and blown up by the Germans in 1941. The Soviet government has allotted 26,000,000 rubles for rebuilding the monastery, now inhabited by 62 monks, one of whom walks above in the litter left by German destruction. Nazis tried to strip gold leaf off the mosque-like domes of the historic buildings.

ANNOUNCEMENT yesterday by Reg Patterson of the completion of plans for the appearance here next Wednesday of Earl Mack's major league baseball all-stars brings to mind the fine job turned in this season by the business manager of the Victoria Baseball and Athletic Co. In the shuffle of a busy and hectic first season in professional baseball much of the splendid work accomplished by the big good-natured "Pat" was missed. Closely associated with him throughout the long campaign I have an idea of the many headaches that came his way.

GOING into a business of which he was entirely unfamiliar Patterson made mistakes — he wouldn't be human if he didn't—but by the end of the season he had really smartened up and few situations arose which he was not prepared for. During the course of the season Patterson was a glorified bank clerk, corresponding secretary, hot dog vendor, baseball shagger and second mother to a bunch of ball players. No doubt his greatest task was keeping the players happy. If one has never been associated with a group of professional athletes it is impossible to describe the hundred and one little jobs they can think up. And pro baseballers seem especially tough when it comes to keeping a business manager on the jump.

JUST to add to his worries Patterson had to keep the fans satisfied in the matter of ticket reservations and so forth. If some prominent citizen or friend of a club director wanted a box seat Reg had to find it, regardless of how big the crowd. But through it all Patterson always retained his good nature and was never too busy to give out with that big smile. He's that kind of a chap and is one fellow who was certainly put in the right job. By securing the major league all-stars Patterson figures he has picked off a real plum to wind up what was a great season.

RECENT Canadian lacrosse final between New Westminster Salmonbellies and St. Catharines in the east was featured by the brilliant goaltending of Doug Favell who took over in the nets from Bill Whittaker. For three seasons Favell was stationed here with the Canadian Navy and they tell me he turned out several times to play in Victoria's dust bowl at Stevenson Park. But here's the strangest part. He never donned the goalie's pads locally always electing to play up on the forward line. On his return from the east Jack Wood, coach of the Salmonbellies, paid tribute to the work of Favell whom he described as "hot." In the final game the youngster blocked 35 shots.

Players' Shares In World Series Lowest Since 1918

BOSTON (AP)—It doesn't matter whether St. Louis Cardinals or Boston Red Sox win the world series, the players' share will be the lowest since the war series of 1918 between the Red Sox and Chicago Cubs.

With the Cardinals dividing the money into 34 shares and the Red Sox into 41 (highest in history), a total of less than $4,000 per player is assured.

With $304,141.25 set aside for the players—60 per cent of the gross receipts of the first four games after the commissioner's share has been deducted—the winning share of each Cardinal player will amount to $3,736.45. Should the Red Sox win, each Boston player would receive $3,098.52.

The small size of the two parks—Sportsman's Park seats 34,000 and Fenway Park 32,000—is the big reason for the small shares. Another is the loss of the $175,000 radio broadcasting fee, which appears certain to be put into the players' pension fund.

Should the Cards win, the Red Sox' losing share will be only $2,094.14.

A Red Sox victory would net each Cardinal player $2,525.28.

The breakdown follows: Players' share for the first four games $212,898.87, winner's share $127,039.28, loser's share $85,859.49, Cardinals' winning share per player $3,736.45, Red Sox' winning share per player $3,098.52, Cardinals' losing share $2,525.28, Red Sox' losing share $2,094.14.

The $304,141.25 set aside for the players will not all go to members of the clubs participating in the series. They will split $212,898.87. The difference between those two figures goes to players on the second, third and fourth place teams in each league.

Drastic Shake-Up In Detroit Ice Line-Up

DETROIT (CP)—Fresh from the biggest house-cleaning job in the club's history, manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings looks forward with enthusiasm to the 1946-47 National Hockey League campaign his team opens in Detroit against Toronto Maple Leafs Oct. 16.

When Boston Bruins knocked the Red Wings out of the Stanley Cup play-offs last spring, Adams announced he'd make drastic changes in his club—and he kept his promise.

He traded forward Joe Carveth to Boston for Roy Conacher, veterans Syd Howe and Carl Liscombe were sold to St. Louis of the United States Hockey League. Defenceman Flash Hollet retired, disrupting a deal which would have sent him to New York Rangers for Ab Demarco and Hank Goldup. Harry Watson went to Toronto for Billy (the Kid) Taylor and Doug Baldwin. Buffalo of the American Hockey League purchased centre Murray Armstrong. Modere (Mud) Bruneteau was sent to Omaha Knights of the U.S.H.L. as playing coach.

"Our chief weakness last year was at centre ice," said Adams. "We lacked both speed and scoring punch. Every deal we made was designed to overcome these weaknesses."

ONE OF BEST

The Detroit pilot is particularly pleased over the acquisition of Taylor. "For my money he has long been one of the best centres in the league, and I'm certain he will help us. He will pivot our first line, flanked by Roy Conacher on left wing and Eddie Bruneteau on right." This trio has been terrific in practice.

Adams isn't sure of his other two forward line combinations. So far, veteran Syd Abel, who came back from the air force near the end of last season, centres a line with young Ted Lindsay on one wing and Fernand Gauthier, formerly of Montreal Canadiens, on the other. Adam Brown centres a third line with two youngsters—Pat Lundy and Gordie Howe.

Adams rates the 18-year-old Howe as one of the most promising prospects he has seen in years. The youngster had 23 goals and 20 assists with the Knights, Detroit farm club, last season. Lundy came out of the navy last winter to play four games with the Wings, and he scored three goals and two assists.

Goaltending is the least of the Detroit worries. Harry Lumley, 19, who had the job the last two seasons, is back and so is Johnny Mowers, looking for his old position after three years absence in the air force. It's a toss up as to which will get the call.

But the defence gives Adams some headaches. Burly Jack Stewart reported late and only skated twice before he came down with a throat infection. He may miss the season's opener. Says Adams: "Right now I have only one defenceman I can depend on, Bill Quackenbush." He looks better than ever and he and Stewart seem certain to make the team.

Veteran Harold Jackson, Thain Simon, up from Indianapolis, and Doug Baldwin are other defence candidates.

Police Revolver Club Plans Busy Winter Program

Plans for a full program of pistol and revolver competitions were made at the annual general meeting of the British Columbia Police Revolver Club held recently. The club now numbers about 80 of the city's police and civilian pistol and revolver shots. With the 10th indoor season now under way, shooting will be held Tuesday and Friday nights until March 31.

Club members are looking forward to an interesting series of competitions, including an inter-city match with Vancouver's Canadian National Club. The first period of each Tuesday night session will continue to be devoted to the coaching of beginners.

Officers of the club re-elected for another term include: President J. M. Wood, secretary Inspector C. Clark and treasurer Evan Patterson.

An additional feature of the club's activities, commenced last year, will be a series of .22 rifle contests. To formulate plans for this season's small bore program, a meeting will be held in the B.C. Police Drill Hall, Menzies Street, at 7, Oct. 16. Sgt. J. A. Young, this year's B.C.R.A. big bore grand aggregate winner will be in charge of the small bore section. Small bore rifle enthusiasts interested in a series of indoor competitions are invited to attend the meeting.

Vancouver Dogs Win Field Trial Prizes

LYNDEN, Wash. (AP)—Shorty's Sim, a setter owned by Bob Evitt, won the open all-age event in the first annual Whatcom County Field Trials, it was announced Thursday night. Second was a pointer, Barney Flashlight, owned by Bill Egerton, Vancouver, B.C., and third was Kay O'Brien, also owned by Egerton.

Frank Andrews' pointer, Brynmoors Pride, from Vancouver, won the shooting dog stake. Third in that event went to another Vancouver dog, Ben Furries' Cal.

Dorlaine Blue Willing, also owned by Furries, won third honors in the puppy stake.

Egerton's setter, Dixie Detour, was third in the derby.

FERRIER HAS 62

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Jim Ferrier, Chicago pro, flashed a 10-under-par 62 to set the pace in the opening round of Montgomery's $10,000 open golf tournament Thursday. He set a record for the Beauvoir Country Club course.

One stroke behind Ferrier and equalling the previous course record was Ky Lafoon, pro from Orlando, Fla.

Canada's New Lightweight Champ

DANNY WEBB

MONTREAL (CP)—Battering out a decisive win over a bruised and tired opponent, Danny Webb, scrappy little Montreal negro, lifted the Canadian lightweight crown from Dave Castilloux in a 12-round bout at the Forum here Thursday night. Webb weighed in at 133½ and Castilloux at 137½.

Webb, who once fought as a preliminary boy when Castilloux was at his peak, forced the fight throughout, and for the last five rounds had the former champion hanging on grimly.

Castilloux was a badly-tired fighter from the middle of the bout on, but Webb finished apparently as fresh as he started, bobbing and weaving about the veteran and forcing him to hang on the ropes and cover up.

One judge called the fight even, one gave seven to Webb and five to Castilloux, and the other split it eight to four for the new champion.

Except for the early rounds and a brief flurry or two by Castilloux in the final stages, Webb forced the fight. His constant bobbing and octopus-like weaving of his arms seemed to baffle Castilloux and he was able to land few good solid blows.

He kept Webb off with a vicious left jab in the first three rounds, and staged a desperate rally in the early part of the 11th and 12th, but he tired rapidly.

Sharpshooting Bentleys Back Again With Chicago

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Bentley boys reaped only an average crop of wheat from their 1,200-acre Delisle, Sask., farm this season, but they expect to garner a bumper harvest of goals in National Hockey League play.

Tonight when they meet New York Rangers in an exhibition game here it will mark the fourth season the pair have played on the same National Hockey League line.

Last season, making his return to the Chicago Black Hawks after two years in the Canadian army as a transport driver, 26-year-old Max bulged the twine 31 times and won the Hart trophy presented by sportswriters to the player most valuable to his team. Doug, 30-year-old veteran centre, was running even with his right-winger brother when a knee injury forced him to take a two-month vacation from the ice.

They first played together with Drumheller, Alta., miners in 1938 and went on to the Hawks the following season.

HAVE OWN BALL TEAM

In summer they team to work the family farm and spend their leisure hours playing with their own ball team with Max at centre field and Doug at shortstop.

There are also four other brothers. Reg, who played one year with the Black Hawks but "just couldn't get the breaks" now turns out with a New Westminster, B.C. team. Scoop plays with Seattle and Roy is coach of a Swift Current, Sask., outfit. Jack, the eldest, sticks to the farm.

When Doug scored three goals and Max two in an exhibition match against the Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League at Saskatoon last Saturday, the whole population of Delisle, 25 miles southwest of there, were in the stands to acclaim the pair.

Injuries Fatal To Two U.S. Gridders

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two youthful high school football players died within a few hours of each other following practice scrimmage.

William Kenny, 17, St. John High School tackle, succumbed yesterday in Temple University Hospital to head injuries suffered less than 24 hours after 17-year-old Thomas Regan died in a suburban Germantown drug store.

George VI Stakes Carded Tomorrow

LONDON (CP)—Britain will stage the nearest thing to an international championship for the season's best three-year-old colts and fillies over two miles at Ascot Saturday in a brand new fixture, hailed here as "the race of the century."

Named after the King, a racing fan and owner himself, the George VI Stakes will have a value of £5,000 ($20,000) added.

The United States three-year-old champion, Assault, will be absent, although eligible to run since winners of the Kentucky Derby are entitled to race in the George VI.

Winners of the following classics also were invited. The Derby, Oaks and St. Leger, Britain's biggest races; and the French classics—the Prix de Diane, Prix de Jockey Club, Grand Prix de Paris, Prix Royal Oak and Prix L'Arc de Triomphe.

GORGE ACES

The Gorge Aces soccer team will play a league game against the Navy on Saturday at Hampton Park. The line-up is as follows: Fernyhough, Alcock, Mackereth, Matthews, Gold, Waterston, P. Smith, Coles, Crawford, Galy, McLachlan, Renton and Glancy. Game time is 2.30.

RAMBLERS BEAT RANGERS

WINNIPEG (CP) — Alex Shibicky's third period goal gave New Haven Ramblers a 4 to 3 victory over their National Hockey League parent club, New York Rangers, in an exhibition game here Thursday night.

Bolstered United Will Battle St. Saviour's Eleven Tomorrow

Strengthened by the addition of George Payne, Alan Reside and Noel Morgan, the Victoria United will be shooting for their first win in the Pacific Coast Football League when they meet St. Saviours at Athletic Park tomorrow afternoon, starting at 2.30.

Cosier has now cut his squad down to the required player limit of 17 men, and with a few veteran soccer stars sprinkled among the youngsters he started the season with, is confident his team will be able to hold their own from now on with other clubs in the league.

The United picked up their first point last week when they were forced to accept a draw with the Kerrisdale eleven after leading the visitors right up until the final minute.

Bobby Moss, who was injured in the match with the Kerries, will be replaced in the nets tomorrow by the capable Joe Travis, Wests' stellar net custodian. Tom Druce and Bobby Bell will hold down the fullback spots; Red McMillan, Tom Fraser, who played an outstanding game at centre half last week and Lionel Speller will be on the halfback line.

WRIGHT AT CENTRE

Rookie Wright has completely recovered from the injuries that forced him to remain on the sidelines until last week and will start at centre-forward in place of Gordie Cooper. Jenkins and Sage will be at the insides, with opportunist Ab Travis who scored two goals in the last encounter and Denny Shubrooke on the wings.

Morgan, Payne and Reside will be stripped for the game and will probably get into the fray as their experience and playmaking ability will be of a great help to the United's young forwards.

St. Saviours put up a great game against the powerful St. Andrews team on the mainland last Saturday, and after controlling the game for three quarters weakened in the final minutes to allow the Andies to run in three quick goals and cinch the match.

Vannerus at centre, Steele and Philley at insides, and Rogers and Jankovitch on the flanks make up the attacking line. Sawyer, Cowan and Bain are on the half line with Kenning and Camp sharing the fullback duties. Stewart will handle the goaltending chores.

George Barnes will referee.

Chabot, Famous Ice Goalie, Dies After Long Illness

MONTREAL (CP) — Lorne Chabot, whose National Hockey League goal-tending extended over a dozen rugged campaigns, died in hospital Thursday, his fighting heart finally stopped by a lingering illness that had kept him bed-ridden for more than a year.

Poison from osteo-arthritis and progressing nephritis, a chronic disease, had infiltrated his whole system and although Chabot had stoutly maintained he would recover, his friends had known for many months that he was a dying man.

His death came just five days after his 46th birthday.

Only last March, as he lay in bed in a west end apartment, he expressed confidence that he would regain enough strength "to take care of my wife and two boys the way I always wanted to."

"After you've been constantly on the move for years and years, it's a bit hard to be confined to a few rooms for such a long time," he said. "But I guess I shouldn't complain because to know that my friends have not forgotten me is a good compensation in itself."

BRILLIANT CAREER

An amateur star on two Port Arthur Allan Cup winning teams, Chabot turned professional with New York Rangers in 1925. He ended his career in 1936-37 with another New York team, the Americans, after having played in the intervening years with Toronto Maple Leafs, Montreal Canadiens, Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Maroons.

His greatest season was in 1934-35 when he replaced the late Charles (Chuck) Gardiner in the Chicago nets. That year he won the Vezina trophy as the league's best goal-tender and was named on the Canadian Press all-star team.

From the start of his professional career he was a standout netman and twice the teams in front of him won Stanley Cups. The first was Rangers in 1927-28 and the second was the Maple Leafs in 1931-32.

One of hockey's most famous incidents occurred in the 1937-38 Stanley Cup series when Lester Patrick, Rangers' manager at that time, donned the pads and shut out Maroons after Chabot had been struck in the eye by a puck shot by Nels Stewart.

Victoria Will Ice Junior Hockey Team

NANAIMO (CP) — Pacific Coast Junior Hockey League officials meet here Sunday to give final approval to proposed playing schedule and set the machinery in motion for operation on a five-team circuit which will have the opening game at Nanaimo Nov. 2, when Nanaimo Clippers face Vancouver.

Other teams in the junior puck campaign for 1946-47 include Univeristy of British Columbia, New Westminster and an entry from Victoria. It is planned to have mainland and Victoria teams play at Nanaimo on Wednesday and Saturday nights. Victoria will use Nanaimo as its home rink until ice is available in their own ballwick.

Vancouver College Beats Honolulu Team

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver College notched up their third straight win of the season Thursday night, as more than 6,000 fans watched them edge out the colorful Kaimuki High School gridsters from Honolulu 16 to 6.

DELEGATES REPLY

To The Sports Editor:

To confirm our first statement with respect to the B.C. Fastball Association's annual meeting being a stormy one, we would like to point out to Walter Yeamans and Ed Whyte the article appearing in the Nanaimo Free Press Monday, Oct. 7, in part as follows, under heading: "Stormy Session Terminates B.C. Fastball Meet":

"A day-long session of the British Columbia Fastball Association here yesterday was terminated abruptly in the late afternoon when Vancouver and Victoria delegates locked horns in a bitter controversy on constitutional matters with the latter city's representatives leaving the meeting floor and V.P.A. prexy Douglas Franks, threatening to pull his branch from the B.C.F.A. and affiliate it with the American Softball Association.

"The brief, a lengthy affair, took most of the meeting's time and led to several heated arguments, resulting in other delegates from Victoria, Nanaimo and New Westminster being unable to get a hearing on business connected with their respective branches."

Furthermore Whyte might recall jumping to his feet and stating he did not have to listen to obscene language.

Whyte has forgotten he called Bert Simpson to the desk and asked if the Victoria delegates would object to election of officers being held as two delegates had to leave, and that they would come back to our recommendations after election. Had we known before hand that the meeting was to continue with new business we would have objected strongly to the change in order of business, in fact the idea of holding another meeting in the near future is fine under these circumstances, but the order of business should have been as listed in the constitution and the business left would have come up at this time, which is the usual procedure, and not say Victoria could have been heard after mainland delegates left on the boat, leaving the island power to vote without views or objections from the mainland which would have caused further friction.

It should be pointed out that Yeamans, in being elected for his third term, past precedence was not carried out as in the former years the chair was taken over by the vice-president. Last year Yeamans ran for his second term because the Vancouver Association members were at logger heads and divided, refusing to nominate a delegate for this office thus forfeiting their chance, and the presidency this year for next season should have gone to the Nanaimo Association. Under this procedure, irrespective of voting strength, each association is in line to appoint a delegate as president.

We would conclude by stating that while nominations were called for and voting taking place for president, Yeamans held the chair, which in itself is not proper.

Community Chest Needs $10,000 A Day To Complete Quota

Approximately $10,000 will have to be raised each day of the remainder of the Community Chest campaign of the $100,000 objective is to be reached and the 23 "Red Feather" agencies allowed to carry on their work for the coming year, Denis Hagar, campaign chairman, said today.

Today's returns brought the total up to $65,015, leaving just over $35,000 yet to be collected.

Special names and residential divisions are nearing their quotas, with $40,006 having been turned in on the $56,000 quota of special names division, and $18,493 on the $22,000 quota of the residential canvass.

Other divisions have turned in the following amounts, business, $2,561; commercial, $521; public services, $2,699, and industrial, $733.

Mr. Hagar also made an appeal to the citizens of Victoria who may have been out when the canvasser called, or who may not yet have been canvassed to either mail in their contributions to headquarters at Prince Robert House, or bring them in personally. He said that quite a number of people have already done this and it is a great help to the much overworked canvassers, who have a bigger task this year than ever before.

He suggested that the Thanksgiving week-end is a good time to get the donations in, as a tangible expression of the feeling of thanksgiving, which can be shown by giving to those less fortunate.

Birtelsen Jailed On Theft Charge

Three months imprisonment was the sentence imposed by Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court upon John Birtelsen, 17-year-old Brentwood youth, who was committed to the Criminal Assizes yesterday of a charge of attempted murder, and who pleaded guilty today to a charge of theft of over $25.

Birtelsen was jointly charged of theft with Richard Jones, who is also accused of stealing a radio valued over $25. Jones pleaded not guilty and elected speedy trial.

Witnesses testified as to the good character of Jones at the trial. Rev. F. W. McKenna told the court that the accused attended church regularly and had never been known to commit an offence.

Another witness R. Wilson, a real estate agent, described Jones as "a good boy," who up to the time of his trouble was trying to find a niche for himself.

The case is continuing.

Fined For Shooting Dog

A fine of $50 was imposed by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon on George B. Bennett, North Douglas Street, who pleaded guilty to a charge of shooting and wounding a neighbor's dog.

J. L. Weeks, S.P.C.A. inspector who laid the charge, said the dog had died from a .22-calibre bullet wound.

Bennett was said to have fired a shot at the dog to scare it away from his property. The bullet hit ground and ricocheted, hitting the dog.

Reeve Thomas Hadfield announced today that a businessmen's meeting will be held tonight at 8 in the Esquimalt Municipal Hall for the purpose of reviving the Esquimalt Board of Trade, which has been dormant for several years. It is expected a representative of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island will address the meeting.

A building permit has been issued to E. J. Tait to erect a four-room house at 3032 Carrol Street costing $3,500.

PO. J. Firth has been posthumously awarded the operational wings of the Royal Canadian Air Force in recognition of gallant service during four years of flying. PO. Firth was killed in January, 1945, while serving with an intruder squadron.

Arthur Hinder was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Victoria White Cane Club held Thursday afternoon at Prince Robert House. His theme was "St. Helena," the Isle where Napoleon was imprisoned." A community sing followed.

Lacking fireworks, the Victoria Chinese community Thursday quietly observed Double-Ten Day, the 35th anniversary of the founding of the Chinese republic by Sun Yat Sen. However, many flags were raised to commemorate the event.

C. E. Long, 15 Lotus Avenue, was surprised to see a car parked in his front garden Thursday evening. Police investigated and found the machine, parked by Ray Preston, Windsor Auto Court, about a half block away, had slipped its brakes, run down the street and over a rockery into Mr. Long's grounds.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall took city police court at 2415 Douglas Street this morning to view a front porch of a house before fining William T. Anderson, a sailor, $50 on an assault charge. Anderson was alleged to have pushed George McEwen, owner of the house, off the porch last August 16. McEwen suffered a fractured leg.

Samoa Stowaways May Be In Victoria For Thanksgiving

Pele Michael, Talapusi Gaoupu, Sialofi Talo and Foe S. Alo, four South Sea islanders who stowed away aboard the U.S. ship Flyaway when it left their island home of Pago-Pago, may spend Thanksgiving Day in Victoria.

The four would-be U.S. army recruits are to be sent to sea again, once more aboard the Fly away, but whether they go back to Pago-Pago or finally realize their ambition and enter the U.S. seems to depend largely on the attitude of the U.S. immigration and the success of those who are interested in seeing the youths end their adventure successfully.

According to King Bros. Ltd., shipping agents here for the Flyaway, the ship is expected to complete loading at Ogden Point docks Saturday, but may not leave that day as she has to wait for sailing orders which have not yet been received by the ship's master.

Maritime strike conditions in the U.S. may prevent the Flyaway calling at the U.S. ports of Seattle and San Francisco and, if that is so, the four stowaways will celebrate Christmas back in the South Seas.

However, if the ship does call at either of the two ports, Pele, Talapusi, Sialofi and Foe may enjoy a white Christmas for the first time in their lives.

Toastmasters Mark 22nd Anniversary

The twenty-second anniversary of the organization of the Toastmasters' movement will be celebrated in Victoria and Vancouver, and throughout the British Isles, Canada, and the United States during the month, according to Ed. M. Whyte, lieutenant-governor of the Vancouver Island area.

The first club was organized on Oct. 22, 1924, by Ralph C. Smedley in Santa Ana, Calif. The movement spread and on Oct. 4, 1930 the various clubs met to form the federation known as Toastmasters' International.

In the intervening years, the movement has spread to England, Scotland, the provinces of British Columbia, Ontario and Manitoba, the Hawaiian Islands, and to 35 American states. Each club is limited to 30 members, and all clubs carry on standard programs covering all phases of public speaking, evaluation, and group discussion.

Today there are 430 clubs chartered with a total of nearly 11,000 members. The organization is conducted on non-commercial, non-profit lines, and the extension of the work is the result of those who have enjoyed its benefits. No paid organizer has ever been employed by Toastmasters.

At present there are three clubs in Victoria, two in Vancouver, and one in Chilliwack. It is anticipated that other clubs will shortly be formed at up-island points, and on the lower mainland, said Mr. Whyte.

24,029 Phones In Victoria; Up 311 In Last 18 Months

Only 311 new phones were installed in Victoria during the period of Jan. 1 of last year to July 1 of this year, according to a statement of development by the British Columbia Telephone Company.

On Jan. 1, 1945, there were 23,718 telephones installed in Victoria. The year July 1 figure reads 24,029.

In Vancouver installations increased by 5,877—from 94,164 to 100,041.

Throughout the province in the year and a half the B.C. Telephone Company and other companies installation totaled 185,430, which compared with the first day of 1945 figure of 174,281 amounts to 11,159 new installations. The B.C.T.C.'s increase amounted to 9,574.

Other increases in the 18-month period were: Nanaimo, 273; Duncan 130 and Port Alberni 251.

Sidney's total shows a decrease in the year and a half, dropping from 705 in 1945 to 576 in July.

B.C.E.R.-Blue Line Transfer System Starts Wednesday

Transfers will be permitted between the Blue Line buses and the B.C. Electric transportation system, starting Wednesday, Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman of the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee, and W. C. Mainwaring, B.C.E.R. vice-president, said today.

The plan, which is being tried on a temporary basis, is the outcome of two weeks' negotiations between the company, Mayor Percy George and members of the transportation committee, Mr. Mainwaring said.

Under the proposed scheme all B.C.E.R. passengers will be permitted to transfer to any Blue Line route, and the $1 B.C.E.R. weekly passes will be acceptable on both systems.

No transfers will be permitted to the B.C.E.R. system by those holding the Blue Line 80-cent weekly pass, and no transfers will be allowed on five cent fares.

No change in the present fare structure is contemplated at the moment, and to avoid overcrowding on buses during the rush hours the company officials ask the public to use streetcars as much as possible.

Speeder Angry, Officer 'Too Nice'

"You can't win," city traffic policemen are saying today.

An irate motorist called at the traffic department at the police station this morning waving a blue summons in his hand. He had been "pinched" for speeding.

With anger in his voice he told Desk Sgt. Sid Wilkinson that it was a "dirty trick."

When the motorcycle officer stopped him the policeman had been extremely courteous and nice, and consequently, he never expected a summons would follow the incident.

"If he hadn't been so nice about it, I'd have known I was going to be summonsed and I would have been down here right away to 'square' the deal. But now it's too late," said the motorist as he dug down in his pocket for the $15 fine money.

Use Safety Zones Police Chief Urges

Police Chief John A. McLellan today issued a warning to pedestrians of the risk they are running in not making proper use of safety zones in connection with streetcars.

"These safety zones are established in congested areas for the protection of pedestrians when alighting from, or waiting for a streetcar," he said.

"When a person alights from a streetcar into a safety zones, he should look to see whether the red light has stopped motor traffic going in the same direction as the streetcar. If it has he is safe to cross to the nearest curb. If, however, the traffic light is permitting cars to pass between the safety zone and the curb, he should stay in the zone until the light changes.

"In the same way it is dangerous for a pedestrian to pass in front of a streetcar and attempt to cross to the further side of the street when traffic is moving with the green light from the opposite direction.

"For their own protection I urge pedestrians to make proper use of the safety zones," the chief said.

Labor Council Would Ask Members Stop Wednesday Buying

The Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council is prepared if necessary to ask its affiliated membership of more than 6,000 individuals and their families to refrain from Wednesday shopping, it said in a letter to the City Council received today at the City Hall.

The Trades and Labor Council said it had unanimously endorsed the principle of all-day Wednesday closing, and added that a measure of this type had been requested by a majority of licensees engaged in certain classes of business in this area.

"We feel that the intent of the statute is obvious and that the determined attempt by a minority to defeat this intent and impose their will on the majority is contrary to the general interest," the Labor Council said, "and furthermore gives weight to the oft-repeated statement that the law is biased in favor of the larger business interests as compared with the smaller."

City Police Talk On Air To Toronto

City police were surprised this morning to hear conversation on their local two-way short wave radio directly from Toronto, a distance of over 2,000 miles.

They immediately returned the call and talk went back and forth "as clear as a bell."

The Toronto call came from a police test car which was operating on the same frequency as the city police radio. They were testing to see whether or not they would interfere with other police departments if they used that frequency.

"Apparently we would," said the test man in a lengthy conversation with Desk Sgt. Sid Wilkinson at the city police station. "It would be all right on some days, depending on conditions, but on others like today we would be a nuisance to you."

The test call was made from an altitude of 600 feet about 40 miles from downtown Toronto.

"We receive you more clearly than we do our own headquarters in town," the test man told the Victoria police.

He asked about the weather here and said it was extremely cold there.

$31 Stolen From House

A porch prowler entered a bedroom window at the home of A. Pitt, 1586 Rockland Avenue, Thursday evening and stole $31 in cash, police reported today. The money was taken from a purse and included $11 in U.S. funds.

An attempt to break into the Nutshell Cafe, 617 Fort Street, discovered at 1.10 this morning, was unsuccessful. Part of a covering over a rear window had been torn off, but no entrance was made.

Commodore's Wife Dies In Washington

Many Victorians learned with regret today of the death in Washington, D.C., on Thursday of Eleanor Minna (Tommy) Agnew, wife of Commodore Ronald I. Agnew, O.B.E., R.C.N., former commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Naden, and now the naval members of the Canadian joint staff in the U.S. capital.

Word of her death after a short illness came as a shock to her many friends and acquaintances here.

Mrs. Agnew, who was the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Monteith, pioneer residents of Victoria, was born here and resided in the city most of her life.

She is survived by two sisters, Miss Letetia Monteith, who resides in Washington, D.C. and Mrs. A. G. Beasley, Victoria, and two brothers, Maj. Roger G. Monteith and Maj. W. Berkeley Monteith, both of this city.

Funeral services will be held at St. John's Church in Washington Saturday at 12 noon, and a memorial service will be held here at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, at 4 Saturday afternoon.

Legion Asks City Seek More Houses

The City Council was asked today by the Victoria and District Zone Council, Canadian Legion, to negotiate if possible for erection of 50 additional Wartime Housing Ltd. houses.

The Zone Council informed the City Council it "noted with pleasure the success attending the city's negotiations with Wartime Housing Ltd., resulting in the erection of 150 homes at reasonable rentals."

JERUSALEM (CP)—One hundred and fifty of the 400 Jews in the Latrun detention camp began a partial hunger strike this morning, accepting only 250 grams—about a half pound—of bread plus tea as a daily ration.

They said they were protesting their prolonged internment without charge and trial and demanded Jewish public institutions in Palestine exert more pressure on authorities to speed up their release.

Winnipeg Air Gunner Sacrificed Life For Comrade; Awarded Posthumous V.C.

OTTAWA (CP)—Posthumous award of the Victoria Cross to PO. Andrew Charles (Andy) Mynarski of Winnipeg was announced today by Air Force Headquarters.

An air gunner, 27 years of age, PO. Mynarski lost his life in an attempt to save a fellow crew member when their Lancaster was shot down in flames over Cambrai, France, in June, 1944.

Five other members of the crew leaped to safety while the rear gunner PO. Mynarski had fought to save, miraculously survived the crash although trapped in his gun turret.

The citation accompanying the award—10th Canadian V.C. of the Second World War and second in the history of the R.C.A.F.—painted a grim picture of the heroic action in which Andy Mynarski, former Winnipeg leather worker, finally leaped from the Lancaster with his parachute and clothing in flames after a hopeless attempt to free the rear gunner.

The action occurred on the night of June 12, 1944—a week after D-Day,—when an enemy fighter attacked the big Lancaster during a night bombing mission, setting both port engines aflame.

Fire broke out in the mid-upper turret and the rear turret, as well as in the port wing, and as the flames began to devour the aircraft, the pilot ordered the crew to bail out.

PO. Mynarski, mid-upper gunner, started for the escape hatch when he saw the rear gunner, FO. George Brophy of Port Arthur, Ont., was trapped in his turret. The turret was immovable because both the hydraulic and manual gear had been damaged.

PARACHUTE ABLAZE

His own clothing and parachute ablaze, Mynarski made his way to the tail and fought to free the rear gunner until FO. Brophy indicated there was nothing more he could do and that he should try to save his own life.

"PO. Mynarski reluctantly went back through the flames to the escape hatch," the citation said. "There, as a last gesture to the trapped gunner, he turned toward him, stood to attention in his flaming clothing and saluted, before he jumped out of the aircraft."

French partizans on the ground watched his flaming descent. He was so severely burned he died of injuries.

The citation concludes:

"PO. Mynarski must have been fully aware that in trying to free the rear gunner he was almost certain to lose his own life. Despite this, with outstanding courage and complete disregard for his own safety, he went to the rescue. Willingly accepting the danger, PO. Mynarski lost his life by a most conspicuous act of heroism which called for valor of the highest order."

Surviving members of the crew were FO. George Brophy, rear gunner, Port Arthur; FO. Arthur de Breyne, pilot, St. Lambert, Que.; FO. Arthur A. Body, navigator, Ocean Falls, B.C.; PO. John W. Friday, air bomber, Port Arthur; PO. William J. Kelly, wireless operator, Winnipeg, and Flt. Sgt. Roy Vigars, R.A.F., flight engineer, of Guildford, Surrey, Eng.

FO. Brophy, sealed in the blazing, bomb-laden aircraft, had an amazing escape when the Lancaster crashed. After the rest of the crew had bailed out, he could do nothing but sit in the cramped rear turret, awaiting the crash. The Lancaster broke into several sections, its bombs exploded, and he found himself, 20 minutes later, lying alone in a French field some distance from the wreckage.

TWO FLIERS CAPTURED

PO. Friday and Flt. Sgt. Vigars were captured by the enemy. The other members of the crew, aided by the French underground, evaded capture until liberated by advancing United States forces.

Pilot of the Lancaster, FO. de Breyne, said the aircraft was flying at only 5,000 feet when attacked by the fighters. He held the aircraft steady while the other crew members jumped and finally made a narrow escape himself, leaping at only 800 or 1,000 feet.

"I pulled the ripcord and had swung only twice before I landed in a French wheatfield," he recalled.

FO. Brophy, now employed at a Port Arthur electrical equipment store, said there was "no doubt that Andy would have got out O.K. if he had gone ahead and jumped. The V.C. winner had tugged at the stuck rear turret with his bare hands while his clothing, spattered with hydraulic fluid, was on fire.

"Andy was a popular fellow with everybody on the squadron," FO. Brophy stated. "We two were awfully close pals and he must have thought of me as soon as things got bad, just as I thought of him."

PO. Mynarski was unmarried. His mother, Mrs. A. Mynarski, of 722 Atlantic Avenue, Winnipeg, was informed of her son's award in a message delivered personally by Air Vice-Marshal K. M. Guthrie, C.B., C.B.E., Air Officer Commanding No. 2 Air Command at Winnipeg.

MINISTER'S MESSAGE

The message, from Air Minister Gibson, said:

"It is with a feeling of great pride that I inform you that His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to confer the award of the Victoria Cross, the British Empire's highest decoration for valor, upon your son, the late P. Andrew Charles Mynarski, in recognition of his most gallant and distinguished conduct during air operations against the enemy.

"I regret exceedingly that your son did not survive the action, but I am confident that you and your family will derive some comfort from the thrilling story of his superlative bravery which will be forwarded to you in official form as soon as it is received at this headquarters. May I express on behalf of all ranks of the armed forces of Canada profound admiration of your son's gallantry, together with sincere sympathy for your great loss."

SECOND IN R.C.A.F.

PO. Mynarski was the second member of the R.C.A.F. in history to win the V.C. and the fourth Canadian airman to win it during the late war. Flt.-Lt. David E. Hornell of Mimico, Ont., received the award posthumously for pressing home a successful U-boat attack in June, 1944, and Sqdn.-Ldr. I. W. Bazalgette of Calgary, a Canadian in the R.A.F., was the other winner. He also lost his life in an attempt to save comrades in a bomber over France.

Another Canadian flier, Lieut. Robert Hampton Grey, of Nelson, B.C., a navy pilot with the Fleet Air Arm, also received the award posthumously.

PO. Mynarski was born in Winnipeg and educated at the King Edward and Isaac Newton Schools there. He worked for four years as a leather worker before enlisting when 23 years old.

He trained at Calgary, Edmonton and Macdonald, Man., graduating in November, 1942, as an air gunner and proceeding overseas in December of the same year.

Building permits have been issued at the City Hall for a five-room, $6,800 stucco house at 1216 Hillside Avenue; to Mr. and Mrs. W. Southall for a $6,500, five-room stucco house at 1 Lotus Avenue, and to L. McInnis for a $5,500, five-room house at 3055 Carrol Street.

Bands, Civil War Mark Anniversary

SHANGHAI (AP) — Bands played and gay crowds thronged Shanghai and Nanking streets Thursday while Chinese fought Chinese on the battlefronts on the 35th anniversary of the Sun Yat-sen revolution.

Celebration of the birth of China's republic came on the darkest hour since VJ-Day.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, re-elected by a standing committee of his government party (Kuomintang) to a somewhat indefinite term as President, restored military conscription. He was quoted as saying he was doing so for military reconstruction and national defence.

The DOCTOR Says:

JAUNDICE IS A SYMPTOM, NOT A DISEASE

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

The yellowish-green discoloration of the skin and the mucus membrane in jaundice is caused by an excess of bile in the blood and tissues.

The usual cause is an obstruction to the flow of bile through the liver and gall ducts, or an excessive destruction of red blood cells. When bile fails to pass into the intestine, the excreta take on a pale color.

The type of jaundice suffered varies with the age of the patient. New-born infants have the variety caused by excessive blood destruction or anomalies (imperfect development), while in older persons jaundice usually is caused by obstruction in the bile ducts or liver.

EYE-COLOR CHANGES FIRST

The whites of the eyes (conjunctivae) are first to show a change in color. They take on a yellow hue.

In advanced jaundice, the entire body varies in color from a pale yellow to a deep olive green to a greenish black. All the tissues of the body, including the blood and lymph, are discolored.

Jaundice is a symptom and not a disease, and the cause must be determined before effective treatment can be begun. (The outcome also depends upon the cause.)

Mild to moderately severe jaundice can last a lifetime without apparently interfering with the patient's ability to work. Patients with severe jaundice, however, usually complain of itching, and this condition may be so severe that sleep is impossible.

In some families all the members are jaundiced due to fragility of the red cells, which are shaped like spheres instead of like bi-concave discs. The spleen is enlarged; as the blood passes through it, excessive numbers of red blood cells are destroyed and extra bile is produced (bile comes from destroyed red cells).

If the spleen is removed, the balance between blood formation and blood destruction is restored. The jaundice then disappears.

MAY BE CONTAGIOUS

A contagious form of jaundice is seen in inflammation of the liver.

Epidemics of this jaundice variety disable thousands of men and women annually, especially during wartime. A common name for it is acute catarrhal jaundice. At one time this was thought to be due to inflammation and mucus clogging the bile passages, but we now know that it is a virus infection of the liver.

Mechanical jaundice is caused by a block in the ducts, by a stone, or, in the liver, by scar tissue (cirrhosis). New growths in the liver and bile ducts may also cause a mechanical block in an elderly person.

Soldiers May Get Gratuities Soon

Indications are that war service gratuities will be paid soon to soldiers continuing to serve in the postwar Canadian Army Active Force, according to National Defence Headquarters.

No exact date has been specified but it is understood that when a soldier is taken on strength, the necessary machinery will be put in motion to pay the gratuities as soon thereafter as possible.

Interim force personnel not accepted into the Canadian Army Active Force will still have to wait until after discharge before their gratuities become payable.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

NEW BEAUTY FOR FIREFIGHTERS

No, we are not trying to intimate that firemen will have more "oomph." Actually we're talking about Johns-Manville Durabestos Shingles. You see, J-M asbestos-cement shingles have been defying fire for more than 30 years. Now, these "fire fighters" have an added touch of beauty. A new process makes J-M Durabestos as pleasingly grained as fine, weathered wood!

If you are planning a new roof for your home there are other advantages that will make Durabestos Shingles appeal to you. They can't rot or wear out — they're easy to apply, permanent as stone, really the most economical roofing you can buy! They're available in four attractive colors, too.

Your nearest Johns-Manville dealer can supply you with free illustrated folder on Durabestos Shingles. Phone him today. Asbestos Building Materials Ltd., 707 Johnson St. G 7314.

AUSTRALIA'S WILD DOGS ARE DANGEROUS TO SHEEP

When the white man started to settle Australia a century and a half ago, they found few flesh-eating animals on the island continent. The only kind which was a danger to their flocks was the dingo.

The word "dingo" was given to the animal by dark-skinned natives. They had known about it from time untold.

Dingoes are classed as "wild dogs." They have soft, reddish brown hair on their bodies, and are somewhat foxlike in general form, but are larger and stronger than foxes. Their tails are bushy.

Dingoes hunt for food in the wilds of Australia. Among their victims are small kangaroos. They have good reason to fear the larger kangaroos, which can cause deadly wounds with the claws on their hind legs.

White men brought rabbits to Australia. These have grown greatly in number, and run wild over many thousands of square miles. They injure crops, and are a great pest to the farmers.

Dingoes are enemies of rabbits, and destroy great numbers of them. From this point of view, these wild dogs are of help.

Yet the dingo, itself, is a pest. It kills and eats sheep, as well as rabbits. After suffering damage to their flocks, the stock-raisers used guns and traps to wipe out the dingoes. In some sections they seldom are seen today, but the wilder parts of Australia still have many of them.

Dingoes have small, cunning eyes. They often make believe they are dead. One day a man clubbed a dingo until he supposed that he had "broken every bone in its body." Leaving the animal lying limp on the ground, he walked away perhaps 20 yards. Then he turned—just in time to see the dingo escaping by running into nearby bushes!

The blackfellows of Australia sometimes find dingo pups in tree hollows or elsewhere. Taking a pup to his hut, a native may feed it and take good care of it until it grows up.

Dingoes are kept as pets by the tribesmen, and are helpful in hunting. They serve much the same purpose as tame dogs in other parts of the world.

There is a question as to how dingoes reached Australia. They may have been brought in by brown-skinned visitors from Asia thousands of years ago.

"What happens when the manager of the Royal Theatre sees a picture like A. J. Cronin's 'The Green Years'? He gets all excited about it. To make sure of his opinion, he reads the critics and finds them all raving and saying that 'The Green Years' is 'A Corker'—'One of the Best'—'A Must See Picture'—'A Wonderful Motion Picture,' etc. That's pretty good evidence. Then he reads where it is breaking records in New York, Chicago, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, in fact, everywhere. At this point he concludes he is right about 'The Green Years' and starts raving about it, letting everyone know when it's coming. Then, if you don't heed his advice and see the picture, Cliff Denham can always say, 'I Told You So.' And now, just as a reminder, this so real, so human, so pleasing picture is coming next Tuesday to the Royal Theatre, of course."

Midnight Showing For 'Night And Day'

Warner Bros.' new technicolor musical film based on the life of Cole Porter, "Night And Day," opens midnight Sunday at the Royal Theatre with an outstanding cast headed by co-stars Cary Grant and Alexis Smith and featuring Monty Woolley, Ginny Simms, Jane Wyman, Eve Arden, Carlos Ramirez, Donald Woods and Mary Martin.

Marking Warner Bros.' celebration of the 20th anniversary of talking pictures, "Night And Day" follows the career of top-flight composer Cole Porter from the time he quit Yale and the study of law, to his stage successes and crippling accident.

ATLAS THEATRE

Hugh Beaumont, dark-haired young actor, has a major role in Paramount's "The Blue Dahlia," which also stars Veronica Lake. "The Blue Dahlia," now enjoying a successful run at the Atlas Theatre, casts the actor as a discharged veteran who assists Alan Ladd in ducking a murder rap.

YORK THEATRE

George Meeker, expert in making the role of a bad man always a real bad man proves his ability in the color picturization of James Oliver Curwood's "Northwest Trail," which has been held over at the York Theatre. "Northwest Trail" features John Litel, Joan Woodbury, Bob Steele, Madge Bellamy, Raymond Hatton, and other well-known screen actors.

CAPITOL THEATRE

In the Beaux Arts Ball production number for "Of Human Bondage," now at the Capitol Theatre, starring Eleanor Parker, Paul Henreid and Alexis Smith, every atmosphere player is a specially performer, instead of the usual dress extra. Edmund Goulding, the director of the picture, cast 20 of the most beautiful models in Hollywood.

OAK BAY THEATRE

A new record in laugh-provoking comedy teams is made when Eugene Pallette, Charlotte Greenwood and Edward Everett Horton appear together in the featured cast of 20th Century-Fox's new Technicolor musical hit, "The Gang's All Here," which stars Alice Faye, Carmen Miranda, Phil Baker and Benny Goodman and his orchestra, now at the Oak Bay Theatre.

PLAZA THEATRE

Montana-born Kirby Grant is the type of western character the late O. Henry used to describe. Such is the opinion of a Grant admirer who also likes the O. Henry short stories. Kirby is currently playing a westerner who travels to the big city in Universal's "She Wrote the Book," at the Plaza Theatre.

ROYAL THEATRE

Although Esther Williams, who makes her latest appearance on the Royal Theatre screen with Van Johnson, Lucille Ball and Keenan Wynn in "Easy to Wed," has a wardrobe of 11 new Irene creations in the new technicolor musical, the studo hasn't overlooked her appeal in a bathing suit. She wears five swimming suits in the comedy.

RIO THEATRE

Gloria Jean is starred in "River Gang," Universal's new mystery melodrama currently at the Rio Theatre. The new film, adapted from the story "Fairy Tale Murder" by Charles David and Hugh Gray, is said to be the most entertaining vehicle yet developed for the popular young star.

'Black Beauty' Best Of Best Sellers

With the best-seller taking on increasingly great importance in Hollywood's motion picture plans, the presentation of "Black Beauty," which opened today at the Dominion Theatre, takes on extra special significance. For when it comes to "best-sellers," no novel in all literary history can put a candle to "Black Beauty." Next to the Bible it has had the widest distribution in the world. More than 5,000,000 copies where sold in the United States alone, and the current filmization of the best-loved best-seller of them all is the signal for the appearance of three new editions to thrill countless new readers with its great and heart-warming story.

Should Live More By Golden Rule, Says Mrs. Hodges

Industry, business and social life must adopt a more Christian attitude, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., said Thursday night in a discussion of church influence on social and civic affairs before St. Mary's Men's Guild.

The Guild held its first post-war social evening at St. Mary's Church, attended by representatives of every parish organization, including the St. Mary's Women's Guild. About 150 were present.

Mrs. Hodges held to be false the generally accepted theory that most delinquent children come from underprivileged homes. Many delinquent children are the products of economically secure homes, she said. Mrs. Hodges traced the influence and potential influence of home and church on the moral and religious structure of the people and the nation.

"You can't legislate morality and ethics," Mrs. Hodges stated. "There should be more living up to the Golden Rule."

Speaking of apathy of the public to politics, Mrs. Hodges said, "Politics is a science of government reflecting the integrity and interest of people who vote.

"I wish church people would recognize their responsibilities as citizens more than they do."

Guests were welcomed by Ernest Sheppard, president, and Percy Waters thanked the guest speaker. Archdeacon Nunns and Dean S. H. Elliott also addressed the meeting.

No Price Control On Dates From U.S.

California dates, many of which are appearing on the Victoria markets at the present time, have been removed from price control entirely, it is announced in the latest edition of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board Food Bulletin.

At first it was decided to continue them under price control on a basis of landed cost plus limited mark-ups, but a later decision was that as they were a luxury product no price control is necessary.

Dates were one of the items allocated to Canada during the war by the Combined Food Board and bulk-purchased by the government through Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation.

This wartime plan has now been discontinued, and the 1946 crop of dried dates is not being bulk-purchased by the corporation but is coming through regular trade channels under the general import license.

The new ceiling prices cover dates from the eastern hemisphere only, leaving California dates free of price control, and bases the ceiling for eastern dates on the importer's cost.

LEISURELY AND CHARMING

"Aston Kings," by Humphrey Pakington (Oxford University Press.)

HERE is a leisurely and thoroughly charming visit with life in rural Victorian England. Author Humphrey Pakington has caught the uncomplicated and unhurried atmosphere of life among the well-to-do landed gentry of the English countryside in the period from 1893 to 1905, during which all the action, if the gentle tale can be said to have much "action," takes place.

From our world of hurry, worry and constant energy there may even be a tendency to look with a little nostalgic longing back to the era where the Hunt Ball was an event, and where the main worry was getting a family of daughters safely and suitably married off.

Mr. Pakington's book is rich in homely and kindly humorous little incidents such as the time the gallant captain got unceremoniously pitched into the moat; when Aunt Eliza's matchmaking badly misfired; when Kate proposes to her laggard lover; or when Winifred walks off with the non-marrying curate to the discomfiture of stately Aunt Julia.

This is not a book for those who like excitement and a fast-moving story, but rather a pleasant little volume to be read and savored slowly, as one imagines the characters in it would read their Victorian novels.

Stocks Extend Recovery Push

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks generally extended their recovery push in today's market although buying lacked the aggressiveness of Thursday's late rally.

Selected steels, rails and industrials made progress from the start. Packing company issues were given another lift after midday. While gains of one to three points or so predominated near the close, top marks were trimmed in many cases. Dealings slowed following a fairly active opening. Transfers for the full proceedings dwindled to around 1,500,000 shares against 2,220,000 the day before.

Canadians were mixed at midday. Dome Mines dropped ⅝ and Hiram Walker ½. Distillers Seagram gained ⅛ and Canadian Pacific ½.

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:

30 industrials	167.97	up 3.03
20 rails	46.55	up 0.86
15 utilities	34.19	up 0.62
65 stocks	60.44	up 1.10

Papers Brisk In Rising Prices

TORONTO (CP) — Buying demand tapered off late in today's Toronto exchange session and part of the midday gains were dropped in mining groups. In industrials the heavy demand for papers at rising prices was the feature and these retained their gains. The market will observe Thanksgiving Day.

There were scattered gainers in golds. Western oils showed small gains for Calgary-Edmonton, Roxana and Anglo-Canadian.

Restorer Returns From Cable Repairs

Following completion of cable work at Bamfield and in San Francisco harbor, the cableship Restorer has returned to Yarrows Ltd. from where she sailed Sept. 19.

The Restorer was scheduled to pick up supplies and gear at Seattle before setting out for cable repair work in the South Pacific, but strike conditions in the U.S. port caused those plans to be canceled for the time being.

The cableship will remain here until further sailing orders are received from Commercial Pacific Cable Co., New York, owners of the vessel.

The Chatham C. Lyon, now loading at Cowichan Bay for South Africa, will leave Saturday for Port Alberni to finish loading and take on 10 passengers.

One Woman's Day

LOSS OF MEMORY

ALEXANDER SMITH, who lived about a century ago, once wrote that "a man's real possession is his memory. In nothing else is he rich, in nothing else is he poor."

What brought his lines back to my mind was my reading of two items of news within the past week, one in a local paper, the other in an English one.

They dealt with the amazing cases of two veterans of the recent war, each of whom had been a victim of amnesia.

The London item reviewed the case of a Canadian soldier, Pte. Clarence Paxton of Toronto, who was recently charged—and acquitted—at Thursley, Surrey, of being A.W.O.L. for 393 days.

'DEAD' FOR A YEAR

PAXTON'S is one of the oddest stories of the war. He claimed to have been going about "dead" in Italy for a year, not knowing the war was over.

While awaiting court-martial, he was subjected to the "truth drug," sodium amytal, by Maj. J. F. Cawthorpe, a neuropsychiatrist. And the probings of the drug confirmed his story and led to his immediate acquittal.

Pte. Paxton told the court that he awoke at 4 a.m. on March 12, 1945, "after a drinking bout, to find his Canadian unit was moving out of the village of Vinchiaturo."

He grabbed the tail of a convoy truck and tried to clamber on—then remembered no more.

In his own words, he "came back to life" on Jan. 18, 1946, in an Italian mountain village. He thought it was still March, 1945, until he saw the snow on the ground.

When he asked the villagers how the war was going, he was thunderstruck to learn it was all over. But the interim remained a complete blank.

STORY RECONSTRUCTED

FROM THAT POINT ON, Maj. Cawthorpe reconstructed the story for the court, from details he had learned from the drugged defendant.

It appears that the Toronto soldier was crushed and badly hurt by the truck behind the one on which he had clung, and fell to the ground, where he was later found by a farmer.

The Italian's wife nursed him back to health, but the terror and fright had robbed him of his memory. It was a genuine case of hysterical amnesia, according to the neuropsychiatrist.

In a letter to the court the farmer's wife wrote: "I may have done wrong in not telling the military about him, but in the Christian sense I was right. Everybody in the village loved him like a brother."

LOOKED FOR CANADIANS

IN MARCH, his memory began to come back and he discovered that the war was over. The Italians told him the Canadians had left the country.

But he went all up and down the Adriatic coast looking for them. Then he wrote to headquarters in Ottawa, explaining what had happened.

He was arrested by the Italian police, turned over to the Canadian army authorities for court-martial—and his name cleared.

The other case hasn't had such a happy ending. Gunner "Chrisp" was demobilized in England, but his past still remains clouded in mystery.

He was found in the Western Desert in 1943, dazed and exhausted, in a New Zealand uniform.

Despite personal possessions on him, including a tattered army paybook, two photos of himself and a notebook containing addresses in New Zealand, not one of these clues led to his identification.

WORLD-WIDE SEARCH

EVERY MEDICAL and psychological means was used to try and help Chrisp remember his past—all to no avail.

Searches were made in the Middle East, America, Poland, as well as New Zealand. Because his accent suggested he might have been an Englishman, he was sent to England.

But not one tiny link with his past was found anywhere. Now he has been discharged, fit and well, to start life all over again.

When Pte. Paxton was acquitted he said: "Everything has been like a dreadful dream. But gee, it's grand to be alive!"

Gunner Chrisp may feel that it's good to be alive, too. But one can't help feeling for him in all that he's missing—the memories of childhood, of loved ones, of former comrades and old associations, the things that really make life worth living. I'd hate to be robbed of mine!
